

Civil War Develops In Brazil

Military Units Move to Subdue Goulart Faction

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Brazil's interim government ordered army, navy and air forces today to subdue Joao Goulart's supporters in his stronghold state of Rio Grande do Sul.

The nation appeared at the edge of civil war.

Military sources in Rio de Janeiro said its army was driving on the southern state, where the governor and commander have declared their support of Goulart in defiance of Brazil's three military ministers.

But best available information from Sao Paulo, eight hours after the government's order was that the army had not moved. Sao Paulo, headquarters of that army, is 600 miles northwest of Rio de Janeiro.

Gen. Osvaldo de Araujo Motta, commander, issued a manifesto appealing for confidence of his men and said War Minister Marshal Odilio Denys would "respect and obey the supreme decision of Congress."

Congress after much wavering finally voted to accept Goulart, the leftist vice president, as president. It had not yet taken a stand on how much power he would have as the successor of President Janio Quadros, who resigned.

Goulart, who claims he is the rightful president, was en route south by air, with the supposed intention of returning to Brazil. He reached Lima, Peru. In Rio Air Ministry sources asserted that aircraft loyal to the government were ordered to patrol Brazil's border and intercept him.

Crisis Over At Atlanta High School

ATLANTA (AP)—Heartened by praise from President Kennedy, Atlanta city and school officials believed today the critical period was over in the desegregation of four public high schools.

Mayor William B. Hartsfield said firmly the city has survived its most serious crisis.

But police continued elaborate security measures, ready to act promptly, as they did Wednesday, when five men were arrested near the schools. One of the men said he was a member of the Nazi party.

Inside the schools nine Negroes—six girls and three boys—attended classes and ate in the cafeterias, shattering Atlanta's century-old tradition of segregation.

The persons most vitally concerned—the pupils and teachers—took the transition in stride, quietly and without incident.

Several of the Negroes said their reception was about what they would expect when entering any strange new school. All agreed they found no hostility or discourtesy among their schoolmates.

Arthur Simmons Jr., 16, said one white girl at Northside High "stopped me in the hall and welcomed me. Another spoke to me in the lunch line and chatted a few moments."

Mary McMullen, who entered Grady, reported several girls walked up and spoke to her. "One girl said she thought it was nice what we were doing and said she had the courage to do it."

The comments were made during a news conference a few hours after the nine completed their first day at the schools, Northside, Grady, Murphy and Brown. Total attendance at the four was 4,486.

Other Agencies Can Sponsor Improvement Works Under Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to amend the Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act so as to permit other than public agencies to sponsor improvements works was signed today by President Kennedy.

The new law will permit irrigation or reservoir companies, water users associations or similar organizations approved by the secretary of agriculture to sponsor improvement works under the act if they have authority under state law to carry out, maintain and operate such works.

No Barricades to Peace

Kennedy Is Hopeful Of Berlin Solution

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has assured the world that Western Allies, abhorring the risk of atomic devastation, will erect no barricade to the peaceful solution of the peril-laden Berlin crisis.

As of the moment, Kennedy told a news conference Wednesday, he cannot be wholly optimistic about prospects for a negotiated settlement.

But the West, he asserted, is prepared to use all available channels toward a solution that will guarantee West Berliners "the right to live out their lives in a way of their own choosing."

In the meantime, he said every one—not excepting former Vice President Richard M. Nixon—should keep politics out of foreign policy.

Kennedy met with newsmen as the government was receiving its first alerts from abroad that Moscow was planning a major announcement. When it came, the declaration that the Soviet Union would renew nuclear tests threw an ominous light on Kennedy's remark at the conference that "there has been a good deal of brandishing of nuclear weapons."

At that time Kennedy said he was conscious, and sure Soviet Premier Khrushchev was conscious, of what destruction nuclear war would bring.

Kennedy announced he was calling retired Gen. Lucius D. Clay from civilian life to serve as his personal representative and add "to our resources of judgment and action" in Berlin.

Clay will exchange temporarily his $150,000 job as board chairman of Continental Can Co. for the rank of ambassador on his return to Berlin.

He was the military commander who directed the airlift that overcame the Communists' ground blockade of the city in 1948-49. His popularity was demonstrated by the crowds that greeted him and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson on their morale-boosting trip to West Berlin 10 days ago.

Kennedy hardly cushioned a rap at Nixon and Rep. William E. Miller of New York, the Republican national chairman. He said he had no comment on Nixon's criticism of sending additional troops to West Berlin as useless and possibly self-defeating, nor on Miller's statement that the Kennedy administration is taking a general attitude of appeasement.

Nine County PTA Meeting Attended By 95 Wednesday

School time means PTA time. Just as school children must have the proper tools and information to start the new school year, so do PTA officers and chairman need the proper tools and information.

With this in mind, The Missouri Congress of Parents and Teachers have conducted leadership training conferences in 17 sections over the state of Missouri.

Sedalia was host to 95 PTA workers, representing 32 units, in nine counties, at the Smith-Cotton Cafeteria Wednesday. The all-day meeting was conducted by Mrs. Y. B. Wasson, Independence, Mo. and Mrs. Milton Grawe, Kansas City. Both women are members of the board of managers of the Missouri Congress.

Pettis county council members started registering guests at 9:45 a.m. The meeting started at 10. Mrs. George Chamberlain, Sedalia, was in charge of the acquainted portion of the program with Mrs. Claude Lambirth, Sedalia, giving the devotion.

During the morning session, Mrs. Wasson and Mrs. Grawe shared the responsibilities of discussing the various phases of PTA work and then divided the group into buzz-sessions for further discussion.

The afternoon meeting was devoted to hearing the reports and questions that developed in the group meetings. The following reports were heard: membership—Mrs. Joleen Grobe, Warsaw; magazine—Mrs. V. K. Betteridge, Pilot Grove; budget and finance—Mrs. John Welch, Sedalia; publicity—Mrs. John Harvey Jr., Green Ridge; programs—Mrs. Dick Middleton, room representatives—Mrs. Bill Cooper, Warsaw; and president's conference—Mrs. Robert Rohrbach, Clarksburg.

Many suggestions were heard on using PTA publications; raising and spending PTA funds; ideas for outstanding programs; promoting the PTA magazine; parent and family life meetings; publicity for meetings and projects plus a description of what should be in a historian book, a publicity book and a procedure book.

Kennedy's Term For Red Decision

Calls US Weapons Adequate For Defense of the Nation: No Decision On US Tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said today he is confident that U.S. nuclear weapons—in number and capabilities—are "wholly adequate" for the defense of the United States and the free world.

A White House statement, issued after Kennedy met with top government officials and congressional leaders of both parties, said that Russia's announcement of renewing nuclear tests "was primarily a form of atomic blackmail, designed to substitute terror for reason in the present international scene."

Free World Stunned By Kremlin Act

Retrograde Step Astonishing To British Diplomat

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union's decision to resume nuclear tests produced stunned and bitter reaction in non-Communist capitals today.

A spokesman for the British Foreign Office said that if the Kremlin carries out its threat, "We shall be astonished at such a retrograde step."

Noting that no warning of the move had appeared at Wednesday's session of the Geneva test ban talks, the spokesman said: "It is ridiculous to put the blame on the Western powers."

Editorial comment in Europe's morning papers was sparse because of the late hour of the announcement. But the news leaked to the top of most front pages.

The chief U.S. delegate to the Geneva talks, Arthur H. Dean, said the Soviet Union had "given clear evidence it is no longer interested in a test ban treaty."

"Its statement that it will accept a test ban treaty after general and complete disarmament is, of course, a fraud," said Dean as (Please turn to page 6 column 6)

The statement said nothing of any plans this country may have to resume testing of its own. It declared: "What the Soviet Union is obviously testing is not only nuclear devices but the will and determination of the free world to resist such tactics and to defend freedom."

"The President is entirely confident that the size of the U.S. nuclear weapons stockpile and the capabilities of individual weapons and delivery systems are wholly adequate for the defense needs of the United States and the free world."

The big question as Kennedy conferred with leaders of Congress and the administration was whether the United States would resume its own tests quickly.

Congressional leaders from both parties were among those who gathered at the White House for the emergency session.

Kennedy said Wednesday night that the Soviet move to end a three-year-old moratorium on nuclear tests "leaves the United States under the necessity of deciding what its own national interests require."

Vice President Lyndon Johnson entered the White House at 10 a.m. The limousines of Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy were seen near a side entrance even earlier.

Sen. Henry S. Jackson, D-Wash., a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee and the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, said he had no information about the conference but: "It's obvious what it's about."

Among others invited to the White House meeting were the top Republican leaders in Congress—Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

Kennedy issued a statement denouncing the Soviet step as a blow to worldwide hopes for disarmament and a "threat to the entire world by increasing the dangers of a thermo-nuclear holocaust."

He called Ambassador Arthur H. Dean home from nuclear test ban treaty negotiations with the Soviet Union at Geneva.

And word went out from the White House that in the next 24 hours the President wanted policy meetings with his defense, atomic energy and State Department advisers.

Nuclear Testing Sidelights

By The Associated Press

How much punch would a 100-megaton bomb pack? It would unleash the equivalent force of 100 million tons of TNT.

It would be 5,000 times more powerful than the U.S. atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima at the end of World War II.

It would pulverize everything—and kill everybody—within an estimated radius of 12 miles of zero the point of detonation.

The Soviet decision to resume nuclear testing shocked representatives of 24 nonaligned nations gathering in Belgrade, Yugoslavia today for a summit conference. Some called it "a slap in the face" to the Belgrade conference.

The Soviet Union's announcement that it will resume experimental explosions of nuclear weapons was met in the Senate by somber and icy anger.

"This," said one senator, "is a long step toward war." Another suggested that President Kennedy address the U.N. General Assembly.

Some Pentagon atomic specialists said today they believe the Soviet Union would get more propaganda mileage than military value out of any super nuclear bomb with the blast power of 100-million tons of TNT.

U.S. officials have been discussing the possibilities ever since Soviet Premier Khrushchev claimed three weeks ago that his scientists were prepared to develop such a superbomb.

Thirteen senators teamed up today as sponsors of a resolution urging resumption of U.S. nuclear weapons tests in stern response to the Soviet Union's action in smashing the moratorium on such trials.

The proposal was introduced by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, (D-Conn.) as the Senate opened its session in a mood of icy anger over the threatening gesture from Moscow.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., the assistant GOP leader, spoke the views of many of his colleagues in accusing Soviet Premier Khrushchev of "sham and hypocrisy."

Testing Ban Ends

Weapons Test Nod By Nikita

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union today scrapped the three year moratorium on nuclear testing with a threatening warning to the West and a plea for understanding from the nonaligned nations the Kremlin is wooing.

Premier Khrushchev gave the go-ahead to his scientists to test new weapons ranging up to monster bombs with an explosive force of 100 million tons of TNT—5,000 times more powerful than the bomb dropped on Hiroshima in World War II.

The Soviets blamed the United States and its Allies for their decision to resume nuclear testing. "It is an open secret," said a 6,000-word government statement, "that the United States is standing at the threshold of carrying out underground nuclear explosions and only waits for the first suitable pretext to start them."

Because of that, and because France has exploded some bombs the statement said the Soviet Union has decided to test new bombs and to add to the world-crushing nuclear arsenal it claims it already has.

The statement linked the government's decision to the Berlin crisis as well.

"The Soviet government has been compelled to take this step, whose significance it fully appreciates, under the pressure of the international situation created by the imperialist countries," it said.

"The policy of the leading NATO powers—the United States, Britain, France and the Federal (West) German republic—and of this aggressive bloc as a whole, leaves the Soviet Union no other choice."

The statement appeared to be the death knell for the Geneva test ban talks after 338 sessions begun in October, 1958.

President Kennedy charged the Soviets with endangering everyone on earth by resuming atomic testing. He called emergency conferences to consider whether the United States would follow suit.

Arthur H. Dean, chief U.S. delegate at Geneva, said Soviet negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin, "has never given any indication at all that this was coming."

British delegate David Ormsby-Gore said "the verdict of the world on this will no doubt be clear."

The Soviets themselves showed concern about the possible effect of their about-face on world opinion. The Soviet statement went to great length to plead a "peace-loving policy." It directed an appeal to those foreigners "who would perhaps judge too severely the Soviet Union's carrying out tests of new types of nuclear weapons."

No Barriers Slow Down Diplomat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The President talks with his secretary of state as he waits at the airport for a foreign dignitary to arrive.

Everyone stands back respectfully while they chat.

Suddenly an impeccably attired man bustles up and engages them in animated conversation. They seem glad to talk to him; he is obviously pleased to talk to them.

Who is he to rush in where even Secret Service men are loathe to tread?

In most of the United States the question would produce a blank.

In Washington the answer is easy: Dr. Guillermo Sevilla-Sacasa, ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary from Nicaragua.

Wherever world politicians meet, to greet or eat, there is the vigorous, 52-year-old Sevilla-Sacasa. He has been in Washington for 17 years. As ambassador with the most seniority, he's dean of the diplomatic corps.

In Washington protocol, the order begins: President, vice president, chief justice, former president and speaker.

Then comes Sevilla-Sacasa, before governors, senators, representatives and, of course, other ambassadors.

"Washington," says Sevilla-Sacasa, as proudly as if he were president of this city's Board of Trade, "is indeed the capital of the world."

Here are 100 embassies and legations, now so thick they almost crowd into each other.

Over this vast, unorganized, polyglot and often squabbling community presides the cheerful, industrious Sevilla-Sacasa.

Suppose an envoy thinks he has been mistreated simply because he's a Negro. Sevilla-Sacasa is appealed to. He takes the delicate problem to State Department officials.

But he finds his greatest glory as representative of the other ambassadors at the many official functions this town produces daily.

In 1958, his first year as dean, he attended 507. In 1959 it was 532. Last year it came to 541.

His official jobs are three.

He's ambassador to the United States, he represents Nicaragua at the Organization of American States and at the United Nations.

Sevilla-Sacasa's day is long but never tedious.

He's up at seven to read the newspapers. Breakfast and work on correspondence follow. Then it is off to the embassy downtown or maybe a meeting in the Pan-American Union.

An official luncheon could be next followed by a reception and then maybe an official dinner. He hopes to be home for the 11 o'clock news, and after this tries to catch up on his reading.

Sleep?

"I get six hours and a half. That's enough, uh?"

And does the pace never pall?

"I cultivate friendship," Savilla-Sacasa said, with the enthusiasm of a born gardener. "I believe in it. It is my life. It is my hobby."

New Discoverer Awaits Signal To Eject Pill

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The latest Discoverer satellite is orbiting the earth every 91.4 minutes, awaiting a signal from earth to eject an instrument capsule over the Pacific.

The satellite is the 29th in the long Discoverer series, and the 19th to achieve orbit.

Space scientists haven't decided yet when to press the ejection button. They're still sticking by what they said after launch Wednesday.

Matter of Fact

The cry, "Thar she blows!" is an echo of the past. A couple of dozen employees and five boats are all that remain of our once-great whaling industry. Petroleum largely ended American demand for whale oil. Metal and plastics replaced whalebone in corsets. But other countries still hunt the whale. Today's Captain Ahab is Japanese, not Yankee.

Oslo Commuters Disgruntled At Train Service

OSLO (AP)—Disgruntled commuters on Oslo's suburban Baerum Line got fed up Wednesday with seeing express trains whiz past them nearly empty while they waited for crammed chuggers to pick them up.

Thirty passengers at Haslum Station lined up on the track, stopped the express and refused to move until they were let aboard the train.

The municipally owned railway company said it would look into their complaint. But meanwhile, the company said, the expresses will continue to pass the commuting stops — if no one blocks the tracks.

Train Cars Derailed By Tank Truck

NEWTON, Kan. (AP)—Two cars of the westbound Santa Fe Superchief were derailed today when an asphalt tank truck crashed into the passenger train at a county road crossing five miles southwest of Newton.

One injury was reported. Joseph Kent, a cook on the train's diner, suffered leg and shoulder injuries. He was taken to Bethel Deaconess Hospital in Newton.

The truck driver, James D. Ailshire, 36, of Maple Hill, Kan. told officers his brakes failed and that he jumped out of the cab about 100 feet from the trucks.

He said the truck was going about 10 miles an hour when it hit the seventh car behind the engine, a lounge car. The next two cars, a diner and a Pullman, were derailed but did not overturn.

The train went about a mile before it could stop.

A Santa Fe wrecker was sent from Newton to get the tank section of the truck off the rails and get the derailed cars back on.

Tractor Accident Fatal to Farmer

CARROLLTON, Mo. (AP)—Archie Vasser, 67, of Waverly, Mo., was killed Wednesday near Waverly when his tractor and shredder hit a tree stump which was hidden by weeds at a junction on U. S. 24.

The Missouri Highway Patrol said Vasser was thrown off and dragged by his tractor.

56 East German Soldiers Cross Border Into West

BERLIN (AP)—Fifty-six members of the East German armed forces have fled to the West since the Communists sealed the border in Berlin 19 days ago. West Berlin police reported today.

Most bolted while building barriers of barbed wire and concrete to stop other refugees.

The latest member of the Communist police to desert swam Berlin's Teltow Canal Wednesday. Police reported gun fire was directed at him, but the Red gunners missed. They had killed two others trying to swim the canal.

A driver hauling barbed wire for the fence along the canal also managed to swim across while the attention of guards was distracted.

The pillars of a broken down bridge gave him cover.

The Communist press began whipping up enthusiasm for Friday's visit by Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov. East Berliners were ordered to put out flags on their homes, in the streets and on factories.

The Communist press also disclosed the formation of fanatical youth squads "to keep order."

These semimilitary groups are composed of members of the "Free German Youth," the organization's paper reported.

Reports have reached the West in recent days of the youth groups ripping down television antennas tuned to the West, beating up critics of the regime and denouncing others to the police.

East German authorities also announced a campaign to prevent their people from seeing the West on television. Jail sentences were also decreed for East Germans who invite friends to see TV from West Germany.

Those who receive the programs on their sets can easily be spotted by the direction in which their antennas are pointed. For one station near Munich, special vertical antennas must be erected.

Today the East Germans raised their hammer and compass banner on top of the Brandenburg Gate, the symbol of divided Germany.

For years, West Germans have been wearing tiny reproductions of the gate on their lapels to demonstrate against the division of their country and to show their close links with Berlin. But the gate itself lies inside East Berlin.

About 13,000 West Berliners who earn their incomes from the Communist press were faced with financial ruin by a new West Berlin ruling. The city will no longer accept their inflated Communist currency at face value.

For 12 years, West Berlin has made up the difference between the Communist money paid to the 13,000, and the hard Western currency they needed to pay their bills. It takes five East marks to buy one West mark on the open market.

Medical Fees Cancelled On Twelfth Child

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The 12th child of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Mayfield is on the house, medically speaking.

Mrs. Mayfield gave birth at Incarnate Word Hospital Wednesday to a boy. Her other children, nine boys and two girls, also were born at the hospital.

Mayfield, 50, an insurance broker, said the hospital staff had teased him for years about having a baby on the house.

This was the first time that 12 children from one family had been born at Incarnate Word, so hospital officials decided to take care of medical costs for mother and baby.

Mayfield recalled that when their first child was born 17 years ago the doctor remarked "If I could have babies like that, I'd have a dozen of them."

Final Phase Of Campaign Nears End

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt have entered the final phase of their campaign to lead prosperous West Germany for the next four years.

The chancellor, 85, leader of the conservative Christian Democratic party, is making about 30 major speeches throughout West Germany before the Sept. 17 election. He is limiting himself to recapping his party's achievement during his three terms as chancellor and repeating his slogan "No experiments."

Adenauer feels he doesn't need to present West Germans with a new party program. The people, he says, know that his policy of free enterprise and limited government interference raised this war-shattered nation to wealth and equality in the Western world. So why change the government?

Because not enough is being done for social welfare, and wealth which was created by hard work of all the people is not being equally distributed, reports Brandt, a Socialist.

Brandt, 46, is plumping for better medical care, higher pensions and a television set for every pensioner so he can "enjoy the last days of his life."

When it comes to foreign policy, there is no essential difference between the two men. Both advocate strict adherence to the agreements of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Both demand reunification of Germany on the basis of free elections.

Der Alte, or "The Old Man" as Adenauer is popularly known, charges that Brandt's party opposed every one of his big decisions that returned to Germany her sovereignty after World War II and made her the third most powerful industrial nation in the world.

Brandt's Social Democrats realize what Adenauer has accomplished. They hope that Brandt's good looks and charm, which have earned him the nickname "Pretty Willy", will win back some lost popularity.

While the personal campaigning is vigorous, Brandt and Adenauer are not directly paired against each other on the ballot. Germans will use next month.

They are electing a new Bundestag (lower house of parliament) and whichever party controls the Bundestag will select the chancellor.

Untenable' Says JFK

Statement On West Berlin Reflects Military Advice

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's statement that West Berlin would be "untenable" if it were subjected to a direct attack by the Soviet Union obviously reflects the coldly realistic assessment of his top military advisers.

The chief executive, in his news conference Wednesday, went on to say that it is hoped Soviet awareness of U.S. determination to defend West Berlin will prevent Soviet attack.

He termed the few thousand U.S. troops in the city as "hostage to that intent."

Kennedy's comments were different from views expressed in his message to the nation on July 25.

In that speech the President said: "I hear it said that West Berlin is militarily untenable—and so was Bastogne and so, in fact, was Stalingrad. Any dangerous spot is tenable if men—brave men—will make it so."

The U.S. Army believes that it has about 6,500 brave men in West Berlin, part of the total of slightly over 13,000 American, British and French forces garrisoned in the free part of the old German capital.

Such a force, in an isolated arena 110 miles from the main Allied forces in West Germany, could not be expected to hold out against the massive weight of manpower the Soviet Union could bring to bear. There are estimates that 35 to 40 Soviet divisions are located in adjacent European Russian territory.

Kennedy's mention of direct attack by "the Soviet Union" was interesting in that he made no reference to East German Communist military forces. Some Bonn government officials say the East German army consists of six divisions (which they consider unreliable from the Soviet viewpoint), plus police-type units and an air force.

The defenders of West Berlin would have some basic advantages, even if temporary, including the military precept that defense is easier than attack.

Defense of West Berlin would be city-type fighting—unless of course the Communists wanted to destroy West Berlin by all-out air and ground bombardment.

In city-type fighting, some of the firepower effectiveness of modern Soviet arms could be negated, the situation coming nearer to being equalized until overwhelming masses of Soviet manpower poured in.

Could the Berlin garrison be reinforced and re-supplied after it came under attack?

Unless the Western forces wanted to shoot their way through the closing of the highway and rail line would be simple.

Shutting off the air corridor would be more difficult, involving a decision by the Communists to start shooting down planes. This would mean fighter cover for transport planes. And fighter cover would mean more shooting.

Which would take the whole matter to the threshold of general war.

Find Bodies Of a Father And Daughter

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — The body of Carole Ballard, 11, was found early today a short distance from the lakeside where her murdered father's body, bound hand and foot, was discovered Wednesday.

Law enforcement authorities in Missouri and Illinois intensified the search for a gunman believed to have killed George Ballard and his daughter and abducted a woman living nearby.

Ballard, 47, a machinist living in suburban Belleville, and his daughter had gone out early Wednesday morning for a day of fishing. Mrs. Ballard became alarmed when her husband and the little girl failed to return home and police found his bullet-riddled body, hands and feet tied with plastic clothesline, lying near the lake shore.

The search for Carole was resumed this morning and officers found her nearby. The child had been bound and gagged.

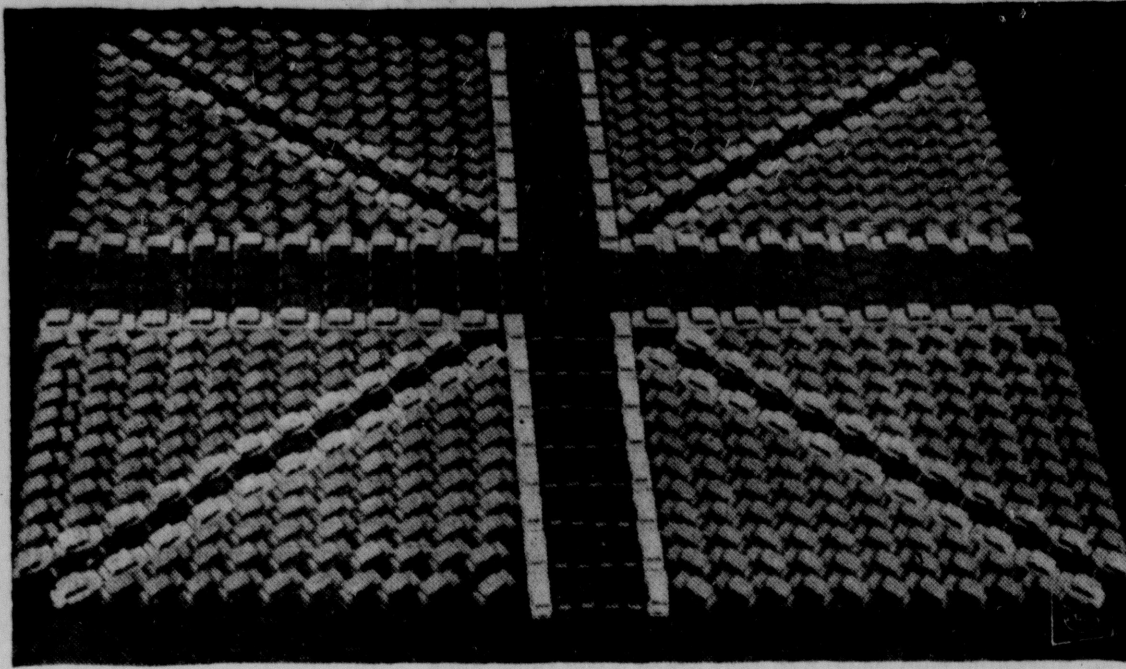

St. Clair County Sheriff Dan Ring said a gunman who invaded the home of H. P. Graham in Villa Hills and abducted Miss Margaret Wernicke, 39, is being sought in connection with the slayings as well as the kidnapping. Officers said Miss Wernicke was allowed to call the Graham family last night from St. Louis. Graham said she was hysterical, but told him the abductor had promised to free her.

Graham said the man invaded his house brandishing a pistol Wednesday and forced Miss Wernicke to go along as a hostage when he took Graham's car. Police said Graham told them the man was accompanied by a dark-haired woman.

UN Command States North Korean Reds Attacked Guard Post

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — The U.N. command charged today that North Korean Communist soldiers attacked a South Korean guard post in the demilitarized zone last Friday, killing one soldier and wounding four others.

U.S. Maj. Gen. Robert H. Warren, senior U.N. delegate to the Military Armistice Commission, at a meeting of the commission accused the communists of "an unwarranted, premeditated treacherous attack."

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Movie actor Horst Buchholz, seriously injured in an automobile accident Tuesday night, is improving rapidly, doctors said today. The 27-year-old German film star had a quiet night after undergoing an abdominal operation. Doctors said Buchholz should leave the hospital in about three weeks.

Eight Persons Die In Crash Of Truck, Car

BETHEL SPRINGS, Tenn. (AP)—Eight persons—six children and two adults—were killed early today when their car collided head-on with a tractor-trailer truck near this western Tennessee town.

The victims, all Negroes, were not identified immediately. Officers said their car bore license plates from Escambia County in Alabama. They were believed to be members of the same family.

Investigating officers said the driver of the car apparently went to sleep. His car crossed the center line and went under the huge truck. The driver of the truck was not injured seriously. Bethel Springs is 22 miles south of Jackson.

High Teamster Official Called For Questioning

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Harold J. Gibbons, executive vice president of the Teamsters Union, appeared briefly Wednesday before a Federal Grand Jury which is investigating the union's finances.

Gibbons, top teamster in St. Louis and chief aide to Teamster President James R. Hoffa, was in the jury room about 20 minutes.

He commented upon emerging that he "never participated in any law violations involving the handling of union money, dues, health and welfare or pension funds."

The Grand Jury reportedly is looking into mortgage loans made on St. Louis area motels and hotels by the Teamsters Central State Conference from union pension funds.

Real estate men, investment company representatives and hotel and motel operators have been other witnesses before the Grand Jury.

French Police Seal Lips On Passenger List

CHAMONIX, France (AP) — French police gave this Gallic reason for refusing to disclose the names of 81 persons rescued Wednesday after the break in the Mont Blanc Alpine cableway: "You never know who travels with whom, and in France we try to be as discreet about these things as we can."

Four members of a German family and an Italian father and son were killed when two of the cable cars derailed and crashed to the glacier below.

Truck Driver Dies In Kansas Accident

PRATT, Kan. (AP)—The driver was killed when a semi-trailer truck loaded with 4-inch pipe left K61 seven miles north of Pratt early today, plunged into a grove of cottonwood trees and burned.

The driver was not identified immediately. Officers said the tractor bore a Colorado license and the trailer was registered in Missouri.

Much of the pipe smashed through the tractor cab.

Rules Sheriff Must Roundup, Feed Livestock

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The county sheriff has the duty to round up and confine any loose livestock and he cannot use public funds to hire someone else to take care of them.

Atty. Gen. Thomas F. Eagleton provided that legal opinion today for Clarence Overbay Jr., prosecuting attorney of Dunklin County.

Overbay said Dunklin County is flat farmland, mostly in cotton and soybeans, and few farmers run livestock. But sometimes animals do break loose and destroy the crops of neighbors.

Can the sheriff hire someone to round them up and keep them until the rightful owners reclaim them? Overbay asked. No, Eagleton replied.

Long Career Is Finished For Coburn

NEW YORK (AP)—Veteran actor Charles Coburn, whose distinguished face, gruff voice and ready wit were familiar to audiences for more than half a century, is dead at 84.

Coburn died of heart failure at Lenox Hill Hospital Wednesday, shortly after undergoing minor throat surgery. He had entered the hospital Monday for a check-up.

An energetic man more active than many half his age, Coburn came here after completing a 6-day run only Sunday night in an Indianapolis production of "You Can't Take It With You." The play drew the largest audiences in the Avondale Playhouse's 8-year history.

The stage performance was the last for a man who found his calling, his first success and the great love of his life on the stage.

He began a movie career at the age of 60 and also appeared on radio and television, but he never lost his great devotion to the live theater, and he felt it was the only true training ground for actors.

He left a fulltime career on the stage for the screen in 1937, on the death of his first wife, the former Ivah Wills. He had met her in 1905 while playing Orlando to her Rosalind in a touring company's production of "As You Like It."

Thereafter, the two became a theatrical love legend. Her death came as a great blow to Coburn, and he did not remarry until 22 years later when, in a Las Vegas ceremony he wed Winifred Jean Clements Natzka, a widow exactly half his age. She was with him at his death.

Coburn's versatility as an actor was as polished as the monochrome he wore to combat astigmatism, and the dignity he brought to his craft was as real as his ever-present cigar.

Charles Douville Coburn was born in Macon, Ga., on June 19, 1877. He began his career at 14 as a program boy in the famous old Savannah Theater and became the theater's manager three years later. At the age of 19, he came to New York, doing odd jobs to support himself until a Broadway opportunity came along.

In later years, Coburn was most often seen in films as a sporty old gent with a roving eye for the ladies and a tongue fast with quips.

In 1943, he won an Academy award for a supporting role in "The More the Merrier." He also received award nominations for roles in "The Devil and Miss Jones" (1941) and "The Green Years" (1946).

Small Children Die Under a Sand Bank

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Three small children were suffocated as a sand bank caved in on them as they were playing in a vacant lot Wednesday.

Discovery of the playmates' bodies under about four cubic yards of sand ended a five-hour search for the youngsters.

The coroner said Debbie Orth, 6; Larry Burns, 6, and Joyce Rizzuto, 4, had been buried for several hours.

2 Railroad Unions Okay Merger Plan

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Members of both organizations voted Wednesday in favor of the proposed amalgamation of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen with the Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen and authorized a committee to go ahead with further details.

The announcement came from the two presidents, W. P. Kennedy of the trainmen, based in Cleveland, and L. J. Wagner of the conductors and brakemen, based in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

School Sit-In In Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—Negro students, denied enrollment at Northwest Junior High School because they live outside the district, went on a "sit-in" at the school today.

After the 12 students' applications were refused, they remained in the school office with the announced intention of staying there until the building was closed for the day. They said they planned to return Friday.

School officials did not ask them to leave.

A spokesman for the group, which was orderly, said the sit-in action would be continued until the students are admitted.

A year ago the Kansas City, Kan. Board of Education transferred graduates of the Hawthorne elementary district to Northeast Junior High, which is predominantly Negro. Northwest has mostly white students.

Parents filed a suit in the U.S. District Court, questioning the authority of the board to make such a change. The suit is still pending.

Smithton Youth Hurt During Fall Through Plate Glass Window

Dale Monsees, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Monsees, Smithton, suffered severe lacerations about his throat, chest and right arm when he slipped and fell through a plate glass window next to the main entrance at the new Hillcrest Bowling Lanes, about 9:30 o'clock Wednesday night.

Monsees told Kenneth Buchholz and Don Anderson, proprietors of the Bowling Lanes, that he was running to get out of the downpour of rain, slipped and fell against the glass.

The youth suffered a severe laceration on the left side of the throat extremely near the jugular vein, five lacerations on the right arm, small laceration across the bridge of the nose, and a puncture wound in the right side of the chest which was not serious.

Dr. J. W. Maunders, who was bowled at the time, was summoned and took the youth to the Bothwell Hospital where he took several stitches to close the wounds. Monsees was released from the hospital to go to his home.

visers and with congressional chiefs.

"The termination of the moratorium on nuclear testing by the Soviet unilateral decision," the President said, "leaves the United States under the necessity of deciding what its own national interests require."

The statement did not forecast specific U.S. counter action. But it was learned that the administration has plans ready and preparations made for a quick resumption of testing if Kennedy gives the order.

The Soviet move, coming in the midst of the Berlin crisis, struck top Washington officials as a highly significant turn for the worse in Soviet policy toward the rest of the world with these immediately predictable results:

1. It will produce a new burst of effort by the big powers in the nuclear arms race, especially as the Moscow announcement spoke of developing a 100-megaton bomb (a force equivalent to 100 million tons of TNT).

2. It means an intensification of the Berlin dispute with its danger of a military clash in Germany that could lead to nuclear war.

3. It torpedoes the Geneva conference on a nuclear test ban treaty. The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union opened the conference in the fall of 1958 when they suspended nuclear weapons testing; it had made no progress for months but up to Wednesday all three powers had been unwilling to force an open break.

4. It shows Soviet disregard for opinion in Western and neutralist countries. There had been hope the great powers would agree on a permanent nuclear test ban as a first step toward broad-scale disarmament.

The President and his advisers agreed that the Soviet Union would take a propaganda beating for its decision. The President's statement reflected that conclusion.

"The Soviet government's decision to resume nuclear weapons testing will be met with deepest concern and resentment throughout the world," Kennedy said.

Fires In City

Smoke from a trash fire was seen floating over the Kroger store on West Broadway and resulted in a run by the Sedalia Fire Department at 9:02 p.m. Wednesday. The trash fire was behind the supermarket, but it caused no damage.

Other Fires

The Cole Camp Volunteer Fire Department Monday night was called to the Clyde Rehmer farm, Route 3, Cole Camp, to prevent fire in a barn from spreading to other nearby buildings. The barn was destroyed.

Last Saturday morning the department worked from about 1:30 a.m. to 5 a.m. fighting a fire at the Creamy Freeze, an ice cream establishment in Cole Camp. The department answered two alarms to the business.

Mostly smoke and water damage resulted after the first call at 1:30 a.m. The fire was held in check in a storage room in the back of the building. But when the department arrived on the second call, Fire Chief Ervin Meyer said the building was a mass of flames.

The business, operated by Delbert Veale, Cole Camp, was destroyed, Meyer said. Equipment in the building was heavily damaged by both flames and water. The building, owned by a Mrs. Crowley of Kansas City, was gutted by fire, Meyer reported.

No estimate of damage to the building or contents was available.

he prepared to return to Washington.

In Geneva, the U.S. and British delegations announced that the next meeting of the test ban conference, originally set for Friday, has been suspended until further notice.

The chief British delegate, David Ormsby-Gore, also is returning to his capital, but both he and Dean were leaving deputies behind. A Soviet spokesman said the Soviet delegate, Semyon K. Tsarapkin, who declined to make any statement to newsmen, does not plan to leave Geneva.

Britain's foreign secretary, Lord Home, returned to London from vacation to begin studying the Soviet announcement. Prime Minister Harold Macmillan continues his vacation in Scotland. Home and Macmillan were expected to get in touch by telephone to discuss whether Britain would also resume nuclear blasts, which she had suspended along with the United States during the Geneva negotiations.

In a rare move, Home personally issued a statement branding the Soviet decision "shocking, contentious and cynical." He accused the Soviets of never negotiating seriously with the Americans and British on a test ban.

France accused the Soviet Union of trying to browbeat the West into submission on Berlin and Germany with the resumption of nuclear tests. A Foreign Ministry official said the Soviet Union is following a "policy of intimidation."

A French official said Moscow's contention that it had to resume testing because of France's testing of atomic weapons was "a real defiance of good sense and truth." One official said President Charles de Gaulle himself had said the French program was only a "modest" one.

The Dutch government expressed "serious regrets" at the Soviet decision and said "world opinion will be deeply shocked."

The Express, only British morning paper to comment, said a further spurt in the nuclear arms race is now inevitable.

Strongest initial editorial reaction elsewhere in Europe came from Stockholm's Aftonbladet, a paper owned by labor unions which frequently reflects the views of the Socialist government.

Aftonbladet said: "The Russian decision to resume the nuclear tests is ruthless and difficult to understand. It seems to be a political misjudgment of gigantic proportions to resume the tests at this time. This is hypocrisy beyond all boundaries."

The Paris morning paper Aurore commented on "the cynicism which marks Soviet policies." In Japan, only nation ever hit by an atomic attack, the pro-Western government issued a statement saying that the Soviet Union "should take into consideration the great effect on the future of mankind that its decision will have, and it should cooperate with other countries in reaching an agreement to ban nuclear weapons."

The ruling Liberal Democratic party noted that the announcement said the Soviet government was compelled to resume tests "because of the pressure of international tension centering on Berlin. But we Japanese well know who brought about the Berlin crisis."

Senate Ends Long Civil Rights Fight

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate battle over civil rights legislation has ended with approval of a bill to extend the Civil Rights Commission for two years.

Attempts to shove through other, more far-reaching civil rights measures were smashed, with Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana cracking the whip.

By a 70-19 vote, the measure extending the commission was tied onto a bill appropriating $762 million for the State and Justice departments, the federal courts, and related agencies. Commission funds total $888,000.

The money bill now goes back to the House, where it could run into Southern opposition because of the civil rights rider. But the outlook was that any Southern roadblocks would be only temporary.

President Kennedy has not asked Congress to pass any civil rights measures at this session except for the extension of the commission.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., protested that the administration was turning its back on Democratic platform pledges and attempting to appease Southern senators in an effort to assure passage of other administration bills.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Our 23-year-old son ran off and married a girl who is 19. She acts like a 12-year-old and we want to know what to do about it.

Two months after the elopement we learned that she was five months pregnant. She refuses to wear a maternity dress "because they are ugly." Instead she wears shorts and blouses which she is bursting out of. Last Sunday they came for dinner at eight in the evening (three hours late) and she was eating a cone of cotton candy. She announced that she had so much fun at the amusement park, riding the loop-the-loop, roller-coaster and bump-the-auto. (She's now in her sixth month).

Our son thinks she is perfect. Is there anything we can do? — O AND L.

Dear O and L: Since your son "thinks she is perfect" your advice would be unwelcome and useless.

Phone your daughter-in-law's doctor and ask him to please tell her that a pregnant woman should not be taking the rides in an amusement park. And, incidentally your son must be a moron to have allowed her to do it.

Dear Ann Landers: I am the mother of four young children and the wife of a very handsome man. All through our married life I've had the problem of women friends using me to get next to my husband.

I've always been able to handle the situation until recently. Now I am ashamed to say, the problem is a 15-year-old neighbor girl. She spends a lot of time in our home "visiting."

At first I thought she was just a kid but when I saw her squeeze through the doorway to get past my husband, and then "accidentally" stumble into his arms, I decided I was being naive.

I told my husband I was going to have a talk with the girl and give her orders to stay away from our home. He says I would make a fool of myself. I have agreed to follow your advice. — RED

Dear Red: If you want to give this little snip the greatest compliment of her life, just let her know you consider her a threat to your marriage.

Your husband should not respond to this little tart's brazenness. He should tell her in a "fatherly-fashion" to behave like a young lady.

I have the nagging fear that they ask me because they feel sorry for me and I can't bear it.

How does a respectable woman who is nice to look at, well-dressed, has money but hates to travel alone, meet men who are in the same predicament? I need male companionship. — MRS. LONESOME

Dear Mrs. Lonesome: You must be a new reader. I've said it dozens of times but I'll say it again for you. If you want to catch trout don't fish in the bath tub.

Join study groups, an adult education class, become active in volunteer work, or the political party of your choice. Involve yourself in civic projects. Work part time and become a part of the business world. In other words — go where the trout are, and good luck to you.

One Too Many?

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Patrolman Louis Gomez walked into a downtown bar for a routine check. One of the patrons jumped up from a stool and dashed out the front door.

He returned in a few seconds and explained, "I was just putting a nickel in the parking meter." Gomez pointed out it wasn't necessary to put money in the meters after 6 p.m. and it was then 8:30. The patron answered, "Oh, that's okay, I don't have a car anyway."

TREED—What you see is an artist's conception of a tree. Otho Pettybone made the 45-foot tree in front of Robert Hare's (standing) art shop. The "tree" had to come down, however. The Torrance, Calif., city officials said it was constructed without the city's permission. They say the art work just is a sign.

We Had Our Growing Pains

The free world views with dismay the erratic efforts of the divided Congolese peoples to find a basis for unity in their young independence. Yet this country suffered its own sharp divisions in its first struggling years of freedom.

Though from day to day the provincial Congolese leaders blow hot and cold on getting together under a central authority, both Katanga under Moise Tshombe and Oriental under leftist Antoine Gizenga are still operating virtually as independent states.

If we look back to our own beginnings as a nation, however, we discover that we were torn 13 ways.

Under the Articles of Confederation which served us from 1781 until the present constitution was adopted several years later, we were a loose coalition of sovereign states. In one historian's view, their relations were "essentially international." And the states were dominated by mutual jealousies and economic and political rivalries.

When John Adams went to London to negotiate a commercial treaty, a British official told him the United States would have to send 13 separate state ambassadors to validate such a document.

The states warred constantly on the commercial level. New York slapped duties on Connecticut firewood and New Jersey cabbage.

A prominent New Yorker instructed the executor of his will not to let his son be educated in Connecticut for fear the boy would be affected by that "low craft and cunning so incident to the people of that country."

Often it was hard to get enough members to attend Congress to provide the needed quorum of 9 out of 13 states. Congress was not a legislative agency but an executive body, met only to carry out those things the states could agree on. A veto from Rhode Island or Virginia or North Carolina killed a proposal. Even international treaties were not enforceable against the will of the states.

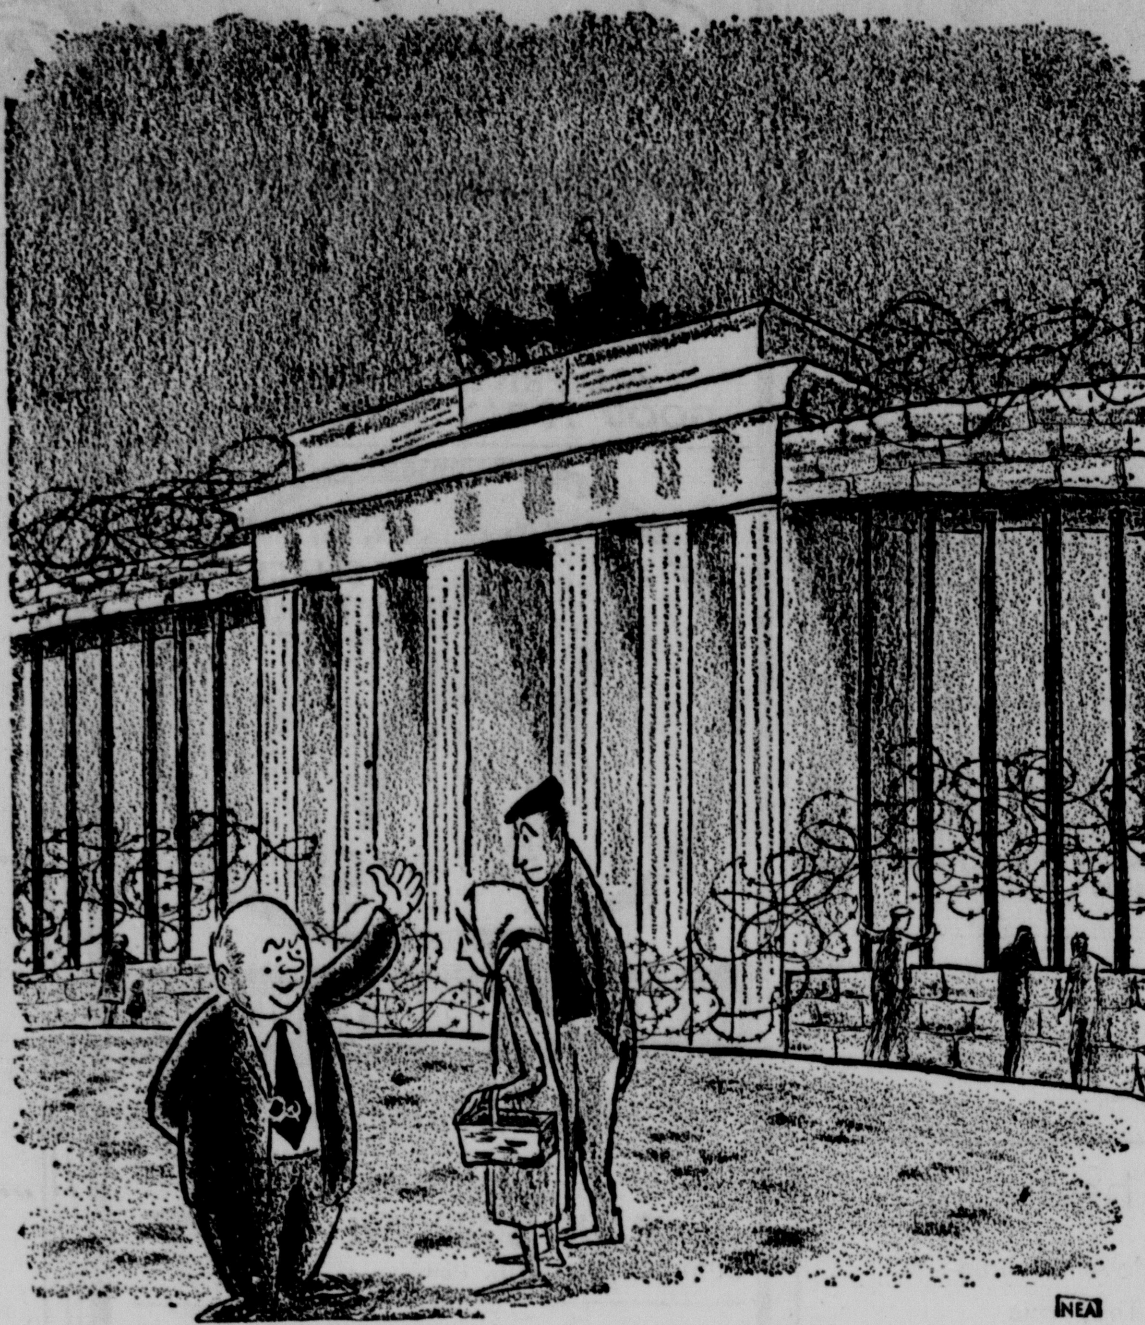

There was no national judiciary, no federal taxing power, no true executive. When Congress was not meeting, a committee of 13 conducted "national" affairs.

Matters generally were so disordered that one historian thinks it fair to ask: "Was the Confederation a government, or a treaty among 13 sovereign states?"

While many appraisers seem to feel it was more the latter, they believe that in the context of those times Americans—then so recently freed from colonial bondage—were not yet ready for real central authority.

The Congolese, independent only a year, should perhaps be forgiven for needing a little more time to find their way.

The World Today

Example of Russian Terror Tactics

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet decision to resume nuclear testing—which makes no sense at all from the viewpoint of world opinion—is the extreme example of Russian terror tactics based on naked power.

1. It shows contempt for what the rest of mankind thinks.
2. It comes at a time when Premier Khrushchev has created a crisis on Berlin and is like a savage nudge to the West that Russia means business.

3. The announcement that this gives Soviet scientists a chance to test super-super bombs—equal to 100 million tons of TNT and far greater than any bomb the West possesses—is sheer, brutal, terror technique.

Even the circumstances under which the decision was announced Wednesday—while American and Russian negotiators were meeting in Geneva to discuss a test ban—makes this Russian move contemptuous of world opinion.

Three years ago the United States and Russia stopped testing, began negotiations to put a permanent ban on it. Wednesday the two sides had held their 338th meeting and, as before, with absolutely no progress.

There had been increasing pressure in this country, inside and outside Congress, for President Kennedy to order a resumption of American testing on the grounds that the negotiations for a ban were hopeless.

If the Russians had waited a week or so more, maybe the United States would have resumed. Then Moscow could have had a propaganda field-day, blaming the United States as the enemy of mankind.

And Russia then could have announced that it, too, would resume testing but only in self defense because the United States had done so.

Instead—just as 25 neutral nations were pouring representatives into Belgrade for a meeting starting Friday—Moscow made its announcement which shocked capitals around the world.

Yet, for years it had been assumed that Russia and the Western powers were equally anxious to avoid any action which might have had a bad reaction among neutral peoples.

Khrushchev's decision Wednesday shows this assumption is a fallacy and that Russia is relying on its own power and its own interests alone to dictate its policy.

Even Khrushchev's decision is a contradiction of what he himself had said.

Last June Sen. Henry M. Jackson, Washington Democrat, said testimony before Congress by American military leaders had convinced the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy that from a military view testing should be resumed.

At the same time U.S. authorities were picking up information that Russian military men and scientists were becoming increasingly eager to resume tests. But June 20, at a Kremlin meeting, Khrushchev said:

"Some American leaders urge (the United States) to resume nuclear weapons tests if the Soviet Union does not accept the Western powers' demands (for a test ban). We must warn these gentlemen:

"No sooner the United States resumes nuclear explosions than the Soviet Union (immediately) will start testing its nuclear weapons. . . ."

But Wednesday Moscow didn't even make the pretense that this country had resumed testing. Instead, the Soviet announcement said: "It is an open secret that the United States is standing on the threshold of carrying out underground nuclear tests."

The evidence that Khrushchev decided to rely on power—and the threat of power—to make the West yield to him on Berlin came on Aug. 9 when he no longer talked of resuming nuclear tests only after the United States did.

On that date he said if prospects for peace did not improve soon he would order Soviet scientists to build a bomb "equal to 100 million tons of TNT." He said Russia would not change its position on Berlin.

Russia has made a farce of negotiations before but never as cold-bloodedly as this time. Last week Kennedy sent Arthur H. Dean, American test ban negotiator, back to Geneva to talk once more with his Soviet counterpart, Semyon K. Tsarapkin, about a ban. The Russian told Dean Monday it was useless to talk of a test ban except on Soviet terms. Nevertheless, the two men met again Wednesday.

And while they were talking, or shortly afterwards, Moscow announced it would resume its nuclear tests.

Little Chats on Public Notice

MISSING PERSONS

Now and then a newspaper will carry a small paid advertisement appealing for information as to the whereabouts of a missing person. Sometimes the person has been missing only a comparatively short time. In other situations the person sought dropped out of sight years ago.

Behind these brief notices may lie a poignant story. It may involve only the desire of a parent or other near relative to find the missing person for understandably human reasons. Again, a very real tragedy may be involved.

But sometimes they may concern legal matters of some importance. One example would be the settlement of an estate where one or more of the known heirs are missing. Again, it may be the matter of clearing the title to a piece of property for which the signature of the missing person is needed.

Whether the appeal is in the form of a classified advertisement or takes the more formal one of a paid public notice, the purpose is the same. It is to try to locate the missing person or persons.

One of the most effective ways of doing this is through the columns of a bona fide newspaper with a well established following in the form of paid circulation. This is only one of many services which your newspaper affords day in and day out. And its importance is underscored by the fact that the law provides for its use in hundreds of situations.

Leaving her small son eating an ice cream cone and minding his three-months old baby sister while she went in a store for a minute, the mother found when she returned that there was ice cream around the baby's mouth.

"Oh," she said with delight that her little boy was sharing with his little sister, "you gave the baby some ice cream."

The youngster nodded that he had.

Curious to know the manner in which the baby went about eating the ice cream and wont-tongue out and licked it, she said to the boy: "Let's see how you did it."

The boy took a finger, ran it across the ice cream and stuck ice cream, finger and all, in the baby's mouth.

The mother was not only surprised, but a bit horrified.

"Don't stick your dirty finger in the baby's mouth," she told him. "I has germs on it. I thought you let her lick it."

"No, I didn't let her lick it," he said. "You don't think I want her germs do you?" — H. L.

Susie is a little dog of no special breed but as pampered as any pedigreed dog anywhere. This summer, ice cream cones seem to be on her menu every day and the ice cream wagon comes down Montebau sometime between 11 and 11:30 each morning. Susie knows the music a long ways off and lets her master know. The closer it gets the more excited she becomes.

Around and around she goes, yipping and squealing and fairly dancing. She knows the time to expect it, too. She seems to know, without a clock or a wrist watch, that it is 11 o'clock and she gets out in the front yard and starts watching and listening. The neighbors have got to see her watch and listen, too. When it gets near 11 o'clock they watch for Susie to come out and they keep watching until she has eaten all of her ice cream cone.

Her master spends a dime a day to buy her the ice cream cone and then stand there and hold it for her until she eats it. Now that the end of summer is drawing near, he is beginning to wonder what he is going to do when the ice cream wagon and the girl with whom Susie has become friends, quit coming by. It looks like at about 11 o'clock he is going to have to take Susie some place where they sell ice cream cones because he doesn't know how to explain to her that the season is over and the ice cream wagon just won't be by again until next summer.

Susie is pretty smart, but he is afraid she isn't smart enough to understand that. Susie will probably be smarter than he thinks—smart enough not to want to understand. And will go on getting her daily ice cream cone.—H. L.

A little girl was talking one day about her uncle who is retired.

"My Uncle Harl," he said and before she could say any more someone asked: "Your Uncle Harl—who is that?"

"Oh, that's my uncle who won't work."—H. L.

"Sunburn can sure be bad," agreed the woman when the conversation in the group was on the topic sunburn. "I had it once on my feet so bad that I couldn't wear shoes for three months."

When everybody wondered how

TIME OF YOUR LIFE BY ARTHUR LORD

for practical advice on the problems of growing older.

LIFE BEGINS AT 50 NOWADAYS

DEAR ARTHUR: I think that the expression "life begins at 40" is just a lot of silliness. At 40 years I was still burdened with financing my children through school. I was worried about my future with the industrial concern I worked for. I had little free time, and many worries. Now that I'm in my early fifties, everything is different. The kids have finished school and I'm well situated in my firm. How did that saying that life begins at 40 ever get started?

EDGAR

DEAR EDGAR: It's a catchphrase that started about 30 years ago when Walter B. Pitkin wrote a book called "Life Begins at 40." Today the slogan is hopelessly out of date.

You're right about 50 being the age when most people can begin to enjoy life. Until then we are all establishing ourselves. Once we are 50, we can capitalize on our experience, skills, knowledge, and freedom from our family responsibilities.

DEAR ARTHUR: Do you think it's dignified for a group of old ladies to establish a child care agency? Our families are grown and our husbands have either died or are working well into their so-called retirement years. We get tired of sitting around the house knitting all the time. But we don't want to do anything that will make our husbands' friends think we are undignified.

SELMA

DEAR SELMA: There are very few things that you can do with a genuine desire to be of service that are undignified. Your idea is sound. I like your approach. Your child care (rather than a baby sitting) agency allows you to be called in for all types of jobs involving children.

You and your friends are far more imaginative than the "old ladies" you consider yourselves.

DEAR ARTHUR: We live in an old folks home down South. We are always looking for interesting things to do and recently a friend introduced us to bingo, which we play for money. But the local sheriff, who must be all of 35, says that we are gambling and that gambling is illegal in this town. Now he sneaks around and tries to catch us playing so he can arrest us. What do you think of that?

CARRIE

DEAR CARRIE: As long as gambling is illegal, the sheriff is right.

You should realize that it doesn't matter how infrequently or how often you gamble, how old or how young you are, how much or how little you lose. Gambling dissipates your time, your money and your creative energies. Why do you want to waste these precious commodities?

Dear Reader: Please send your questions to me, Arthur Lord, in care of this newspaper. Look for an answer to those of general interest in future columns.

she got by without shoes, she explained that she cut some house slippers and wore them. She just couldn't get shoes on, her feet were so swollen and sore.

"And I could hardly eat, either," she continued, "for my mouth was sunburned, too."

"Inside or out?" somebody wanted to know.

But the conversation ended right there. She never said.—H. L.

'No War,' Is Opinion of Khrushchev

By DREW PEARSON

GAGRI, Georgia, USSR—My interview with Premier Nikita Khrushchev at his summer vacation spot on the shore of the Black Sea covered almost every subject under the sun from dust storms, to the U-2, to the question of growing beans. But time after time the conversation came back to the question of whether the two most powerful nations in the world, the United States and Russia, could live in peace.

Premier Khrushchev's conclusion was that they could. And many times he expressed this hope. But he used some blunt Nikitaese language in commenting on his Vienna talks with President Kennedy.

"I told President Kennedy," he said, "the story of the man who used to boss his son. Then his son grew up, but the father didn't realize it and took him by the ear."

"Look here, father," said the son. "I'm now grown up. I have children of my own. You can't treat me the way you used to."

"It's the same way in international relations," Khrushchev said he told Kennedy. "We have now grown up."

"Mr. Kennedy told me, 'Our forces are now equal. We can destroy each other.'"

"Yes, Mr. President," I replied, "I agree, though in my heart I feel that we are stronger. But I agree on the policy of equality. And on the basis of that reasonable policy let's remove what difficulties lie before us—first of all, Germany. That is the big problem. If we remove this, the rest will be easy."

"There is of course Laos," I told him. "But it is not in Laos that there will be a great struggle between communism and capitalism."

"We regard the strength of the United States in a very serious light," I told the president. "I believe we are stronger. But if you impose war on us, that will decide. But it will be a test that will be deplorable."

Red Soldiers Want to Serve

Turning from his talks with Kennedy, but still discussing the problem of war, Khrushchev said: "I am now facing a problem. By fall one age group of our army is scheduled to be demobilized. But I have been receiving letters from many of these soldiers asking to remain in the army. They point out that they are the most experienced, and that if there is to be war, they want to stay in. "I am having a struggle in my own mind as to what I should decide. I am leaning toward the idea of leaving them in until the Berlin crisis is over."

In his formal statement to me on Berlin, Khrushchev had said that certain leaders were engaging in "military hysteria in order to have a pretext to unleash war against the Soviet." When I asked him what he meant by this "military hysteria," he cited Kennedy's mobilization of military manpower, his increase in the military budget, and his orders for more bombers.

"These bombers are not toys," Khrushchev added.

"Then there is his sending of 1,500 more men to West Berlin," he said. "This is a clear threat. All these fan the military psychosis. We have to judge governments by their actions, and it is quite clear that the United States is now threatening us."

Allies of U.S. Will Prevent War

"I would understand this if we were encroaching on the United States," Khrushchev continued. "But we are not demanding any territory. We have enough land of our own. We don't want any more. We have no claims upon anyone. We are only proposing that what's already come into being now be codified and that the last vestiges of World War II be removed. The borders of the two Germanys have now taken shape and we demand that they be codified."

Summing up his ideas on war, however, Mr. Khrushchev told me: "In my opinion there will be no war. I am basing this on the ordinary calculations of those who count their lives on adding machines.

"Why do I think that, despite all this, there will be no war?" he asked. "Because Chancellor Adenauer may turn out to be the best disciple of peace—and his defense minister, Strauss. Strauss knows what war would do to West Germany. So do your other allies—Premier Fanfani of Italy, whom I found to be a very reasonable man, and also De Gaulle and Macmillan."

"They will be the first to take the United States by the hand and tell you there must be no war over Berlin."

Khrushchev several times repeated his personal liking of Kennedy.

"He's a man you can disagree with and still like," he said. "But he backslid from the more reasonable position taken by President Eisenhower. He wanted to frighten us and he frightened himself instead."

(Editor's Note: Tomorrow Pearson will report on some of the lighter moments in his talk with Khrushchev.)

Orphans of Neglect

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare estimates there are about six million handicapped children of school age who need special training. They include the blind, or nearly blind; the deaf, or hard of hearing; those with speech defects; the emotionally maladjusted; the mentally retarded; those severely crippled and others with special problems.

Secretary Abraham Ribicoff notes that every state now offers some special educational opportunity for handicapped children, yet four and a half million of them are not receiving this benefit. In many instances it is because their parents are not aware that it is available.

Says Mr. Ribicoff: "It seems to me that these parents might well spend (time) finding out what special help their school systems and state departments of education are prepared to give."

Don't Hang Up

The Russians have always been great re-writers of their own and everybody else's history. It's no surprise that they are now trying to heap fresh blame on the late Joseph Stalin for their early crushing World War II defeats at Nazi hands.

For every Soviet scapegoat there has to be a hero, and you can just guess who saw the peril of it all at the time: none other than that military wizard, Nikita Khrushchev.

Then Marshal Budenny's political commissar, Khrushchev says he tried to get Stalin on the phone to tell him to pull back from the faltering Kiev front. Stalin wouldn't talk to him and disaster followed.

Another medal, please, for Honorary Marshal Khrushchev. And a word of caution to Russians high and low: It's different now. If Khrushchev calls, don't hang up.

Yours, Too?

Some of us go through life bearing names so common or so easy to pronounce and spell that the problem may be to keep them from being lost in the shuffle. Others are tagged with names so complex and tricky they are a constant headache to the wearer.

But what of the fellow whose name is rather easy and yet is consistently misspelled? He must despair, just a little, of ever truly being known for himself, as we would all like to be.

Such a man is Theodore C. Sorenson, special counsel to the President. You'd think that sort of prominence would do it for him, but it hasn't. To 9 out of 10 who write about him, he is Sorenson.

There are some games you just can't win.

Cosmic Cosmetics

A scientist has found that women would be better able to withstand high temperatures in a spaceship than men. What this means, he says, is that if women were sent on space missions, "a ton or so of instrumentation" necessary for physical comfort could be eliminated.

He has perhaps overlooked one contingency. The modern woman's handbag without which she goes nowhere, would eat up no little amount of this weight saving.

Dignity Is In Order For Man Risking His Life

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In their own living rooms American families grouped together before their TV sets have watched in hushed and prayerful silence both times that America sent a man alone into space.

The courage of the men in the capsule, the fear for his safety, the mystery of outer space, the appeal of the unknown to the imagination of the watchers—are as awe-inspiring as anything the magic of television has ever been able to bring into the lives of the American people.

Why then does TV have to ham it up, as usual, in the fearful time before the launchings? This is no time for cuteness, the entertainment as usual, the meaningless chatter that is all part and parcel of the average television show.

When a man is about to risk his life for us, don't we owe his courage, his unselfishness, his dedication something better than a couple of men bandying silly words with a pretty girl in the usual feeble TV effort to fill up time before the "main attraction"?

How can TV be so insensitive as that? A man being shot into space isn't a TV spectacular but a human being meeting an awe-inspiring test of courage and stamina and self-reliance ordinary individuals are rarely permitted to share even remotely.

In being able to let us sit safely in our homes and in a small way share such an experience TV is a privileged medium.

Surely the industry could meet such a situation with more dignity, inspiration and imagination than has been shown so far.

Young Cuban And Dog Are Happy In US

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Juan Antonio Ponce, 16-year-old Cuban, and his white spitz, Osito, are together again and happy in the United States.

Twice Juan attempted to outwit Fidel Castro's guards and flee Cuba but each time was turned back in his 17-foot boat.

One day, Juan loaded his mother, three other Cubans and Osito into the boat and set out. The guards apparently thought they were fishing.

They had food and water for two days but storms delayed them and on the fourth day they became lost at sea. Another boat found them and led them to Miami.

Osito was forced to spend five days in quarantine, with a fee of $1 a day for board, $3 for a rabies shot and $2 for a license.

Juan had no money, but the humane society provided that, and took the dog to the pound when the five days were up.

Juan and Osito were united Wednesday.

Drops Reds on 4 Singles

Tom Sturdivant
In Big ComebackBy ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Remember Tom Sturdivant? He is the big, knuckleballing right-hander who helped pitch the New York Yankees to successive American League pennants in 1956 and 1957—and then dropped back to the minors within four years.

After winning 32 games over those two pennant years with the Yanks, Sturdivant was on the disabled list because of a foot injury for part of 1958, then was traded to Kansas City in '59. Last year he was swapped to Boston, and this year he was picked up by Washington in the AL's expansion pool. It was the Senators who shipped him back to the minors in a trade with Pittsburgh. Now he has come back to the majors with the Pirates, and he's come back big—knocking off first place Cincinnati 3-1 on four singles Wednesday night for his fourth victory in five decisions in the National League. And it was his fifth straight complete game.

That ended the Reds' brief winning streak at three and trimmed their hold on first place to 2½ games over the second place Los Angeles Dodgers, who whipped the Chicago Cubs 5-2. San Francisco, after losing five in a row, regained third place from Milwaukee by beating the Braves 2-1. Philadelphia defeated St. Louis, 4-3.

In the American League, the New York Yankees backed Bill Stafford's four-hitter with solo home runs by Mickey Mantle (47) and Elston Howard for a 4-0 victory at Minnesota. That padded their lead to 2½ games again when second place Detroit lost 7-4 to Chicago's White Sox. Baltimore crushed the Los Angeles Angels 11-4. Cleveland rapped Washington 9-0 and Boston beat Kansas City 9-3.

Sturdivant, 31, struck out five and just missed a second straight shutout.

After giving up an unearned run in the second inning, on Gordy Coleman's single, his lone walk and a two-out error, Sturdivant retired 20 in a row before giving up singles by Coleman and Jerry Lynch with two out in the ninth. Then he got Gus Bell on a game-ending grounder.

The Pirates beat Bob Purkey (14-10) with two runs in the first inning. Bill Virdon's leadoff single, Dick Groat's triple and a wild pitch did it.

The Angels did it with two-run homers by Charlie Neal and Norm Sherry and the strikeout pitching of Larry Sherry, who fanned seven of the nine Cubs he faced in three innings of hitless relief. Southpaw Johnny Podres (17-4) was the winner. Dick Ellisworth (7-9) was the loser.

San Francisco managed only four hits, but paired two of them, a double by Joe Amalfitano and a triple by Willie McCovey, with an infield out for two runs in the fourth inning off Carl Willey (5-9). Mike McCormick (11-13) was the winner.

Ray Sadecki (12-7) was the loser.

Boston pitcher Gene Conley drove in the winning run as the Red Sox defeated the Athletics 9-3 at Kansas City.

Conley had to have help from Chet Nichols and Mike Fornieles but was credited with his ninth triumph against 11 defeats.

With the score tied 2-2 in the seventh, Conley lined a single off loser Jim Archer (8-11) to score Pete Runnels and Carl Yastrzemski.

Boston went on to score five more runs in the last inning. The Phils scored twice in the first inning. Johnny Callison hit his eighth home run of the season. Demeter doubled to score Charley Smith, aboard by a walk.

The score was 2-0 until Julian Javier beat out a bunt in the sixth inning. Curt Flood was safe on Smith's two-base wild throw and Bill White doubled, tying it up. Stan Musial sacrificed, giving the Cards a 3-2 edge.

But the Phils tied it in their end of the sixth on Callison's single, a passed ball and Frank Herrera's double.

Smith singled with two out in the eighth and Demeter doubled in the winning run.

Jofre Again Named 'Fighter of Month'

NEW YORK (AP)—Eder Jofre, world bantamweight champion who won the same designation for July, again was named "Fighter of the Month" by Ring Magazine in its August ratings released today.

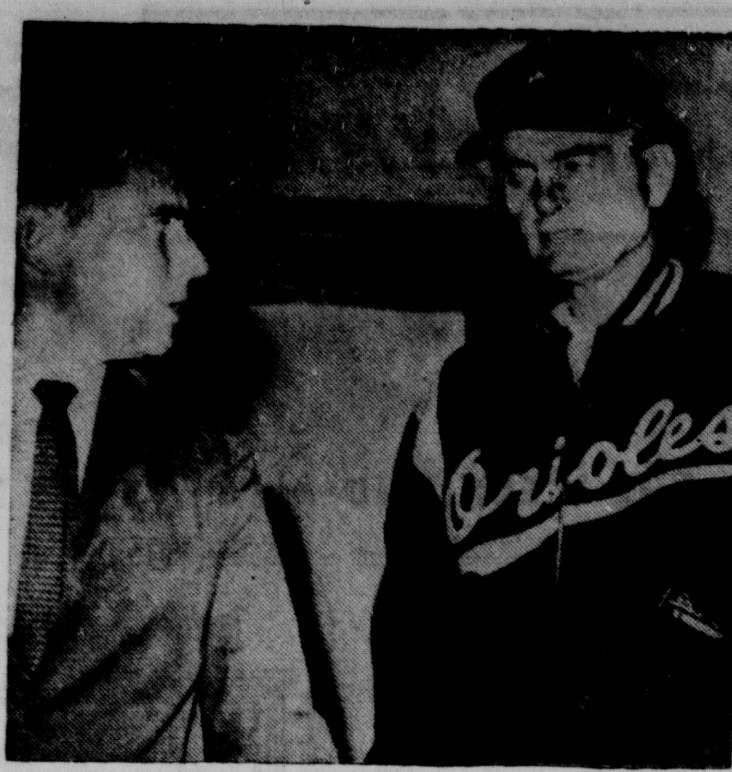

Jofre retained his unbeaten status by knocking out Ramon Arias in Caracas in successfully defending his crown.

The runnerup spot goes to NBA light heavyweight champion Harold Johnson for his victory in a title match Tuesday night over Eddie Cotton in Seattle.

Trap Shoot Contest Ends;
Nu-Way Cafe Takes First

The Sedalia Rod and Gun Club trap shoot contest came to an end Wednesday night with a new championship team — Nu-Way Cafe — which came from seventh place early in the season to nose out the season-leading Cole-Cooper gunners. The Nu-Way aggregation ended the shoot 11 clay pigeons ahead of the second place team.

Much credit for the final spurt in the scoring of Nu-Way goes to Gene Hollenbeck, a low shooter at the beginning of the 15 week grind who in the last few weeks has been hitting consistently 21 to 22 rocks each week.

Not until Wednesday night did anyone know exactly what division they would end in. The breaking point came between the Fifth and Sixth places. The top five were in the "A" division and the low five in the "B" division.

The three top teams in the two divisions won trophies. The last two teams in the two divisions will hold a round-robin shoot-off for the consolation trophy or the "We Tried" trophy.

The finish of the shoot: Nu-Way, 1347; Cole-Cooper, 1336; Bings No. 2, 1318; Cecil's TV, 1311; and Connor-Wagoner, 1302.

In "B" it was Ozark Feeds 1294; Pepsi-Cola 1291; Bings No. 1, 1283; Broadway Lanes, 1278 and B and J Gun and Radio, 1170.

Cecil's, Connor-Wagoner, Broadway Lanes and B and J will shoot in the consolation.

High individual average went to Bill Steljes and Bernard Dove, second.

The Derby Results saw some "hefty" shooting after the trap shooting competition in the league was over. Gordon Smith was high with 24. Five tied for second with 23 each, Dick Cole, Lynn Grobe, Ted Haynes, Vernon Arnett and Clayde Luttman; and two tied for third with 22 each, Lewis Smith and Wait Huff.

The Juniors, who used 410 shot-guns, did fairly well, breaking 21 out of 80 targets.

Kickoff Time
In Big Eight,
Drive Friday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It's kickoff time in the Big Eight football campaign Friday for the coaches and more than 500 husky hopefuls as practice session get under way.

Iowa State, due to an early opener with Drake at Des Moines Sept. 16, was allowed a head start and went to work Monday. First games for the other conference teams come Sept. 23 or 30.

Coach Clay Stapleton has his biggest squad, 48 boys, and promises a new look in the Iowa State attack this year. He's been talking about going wider to open up the defense "so we can run more and try some fancy stuff." The Cyclones have avoided this in the past.

Other squads also are at or near record numbers. Oklahoma's 76-man outfit is the largest. Kansas is right behind with 75. Colorado has 74, Missouri 66, Kansas State 63, Nebraska 56, and Oklahoma State 57.

Oklahoma State and Iowa State launch the conference wars Sept. 23 at Ames. Other Sept. 23 openers Kansas, hailed as the league powerhouse, meets Texas Christian at Fort Worth; Missouri, also rated among the best, meets Washington State at Columbia; Kansas State entertains Indiana at Manhattan; Nebraska angles with North Dakota at Lincoln.

Oklahoma, seeking to better last year's 2-5 Big Eight record, and Colorado, with a squad Coach Sonny Grandelius is openly optimistic about, delay action until Sept. 30. The Sooners travel to South Bend to battle Notre Dame. Buffaloes meet Oklahoma State in Boulder.

As practice begins coach Jack Mitchell's Jayhawks appear to be loaded with talent. Bert Coan, one of the brighter lights last year, will be missing. Suspended by a conference ruling for the first five games of the 1961 season, he suffered a broken leg in spring practice and is lost for the entire schedule. Quarterback John Hadl and Curtis McClintock, speedy half-back, are among those present and Coan's absence may not be felt too much.

At Missouri coach Dan Devine has to replace three of his top halfbacks from his Orange Bowl champions, plus All-America end Dan LaRose. He has a fine crop of sophomores, however, and the inner line appears strong, with tackle Ed Blaine a key man.

Colorado has Joe Romig, a guard who made the second All-America team last year. Grandelius recently mentioned he's quite happy with his big squad and is sure of being able to go with two teams anytime.

Bud Wilkinson, whose pupils won 12 consecutive conference championships for Oklahoma until 1960, intends to get his boys back in motion this year. A spark is needed and he may have it in Bill Van Burkleo of Tulsa, a sophomore quarterback.

More Talk
Of Pennant
Than Homers

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—Mickey Mantle had just swatted his 47th home run, but there was little talk in the Yankee dressing room about that. Everyone was more concerned over how second place Detroit came out with Chicago.

Most of the Yankees had left the dressing room when the final score was posted: Chicago 7, Detroit 4.

That, coupled with New York's 4-0 victory over the Minnesota Twins behind the four-hit pitching of Bill Stafford Wednesday night, put the Yanks 2½ games ahead of the Tigers.

"There isn't much talk about the home runs," explained Yankee Manager Ralph Houk. "The boys are more interested in winning the pennant."

That feeling carries even to statistician Bill Kane, who makes no mention in his press sheet of how close Mantle and Roger Maris, who has 51 roundtrippers, are to Babe Ruth's record 60 homers.

The pennant fever was best exhibited Wednesday night by Maris who risked injury sliding hard into Minnesota second baseman Billy Martin when Martin was attempting to complete a double play. The ball sailed into the Twins' dugout and resulted in the Yanks' first run.

"I had to take my chances with an injury," said Maris. "The score was 0-0 at the time and if I could upset the double play, that meant a possible run. We're out to win the pennant and any records will be incidental."

Houk said he felt no concern at the slide, but "I would have if he hadn't tried to break up the play. These guys are all professionals now. They should know how to slide."

Mantle spent his time in the training room, not too anxious to talk about the home run which left him one game ahead of Ruth's pace.

Maris, who is seven games up on the Babe, was much more willing to chat.

"I've been getting a great many more bad pitches lately," he said after loser Jim Kaat three times went to three balls on the left-handed slugger. "And I've been swinging at too many of them."

"It's my business now to lay off those bad pitches. The other guy (Mantle) will start hitting some more homers and then we'll see if the pitchers start pitching to me again."

Pitching — Tom Sturdivant, Pirates, allowed only four singles and walked just one, retiring 20 in a row over one span, for 4-1 victory over first place Reds and fifth straight complete game.

Hitting — Don Demeter, Phils, drove in two runs with pair of doubles, breaking 3-3 tie with second in the eighth inning for 4-3 victory over Cards.

Tigers Chopped
From BehindBy ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers, looking ahead to their weekend showdown at New York for the American League lead, suddenly have been chopped down from behind by the charging Chicago White Sox.

The Sox put away their sixth straight success and second in a row over Detroit, 7-4, Wednesday night. It was only the third loss in 13 games for the Tigers, but they've dropped these latest two behind aces Frank Lary and Jim Bunning, and have skidded 2½ games behind New York.

The Yankees added a game to their lead with a 4-0 victory at Minnesota as Mickey Mantle and Elston Howard crashed solo home runs behind the four-hit pitching of Bill Stafford.

It was No. 47 for Mantle, and left him one game ahead of Babe Ruth's record-60 pace of 1927. Teammate Roger Maris, after going 0-for-10, picked up a single but failed to add to his major league leading home run total of 51. He's now only seven games ahead of Ruth.

The hottest home run slugger of the moment, Jim Gentile, belted his 43rd as third place Baltimore walloped five homers and crushed Los Angeles 11-4. It was Gentile's seventh home run in nine games, but he's six behind Ruth's pace for 136 games.

Cleveland clobbered Washington 9-0 and Boston whipped Kansas City 9-3.

In the National League Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati 3-1 and trimmed the Reds' lead to 2½ games over the Los Angeles Dodgers, who beat the Chicago Cubs 5-2. San Francisco edged Milwaukee 2-1, and Philadelphia defeated St. Louis 4-3.

The Tigers, playing without flustered Norm Cash, the AL's batting leader at .366, committed three errors for the second straight game and were checked on five hits by southpaw Juan Pizarro (11-5), who struck out 10. Bunning (15-10) was roughed up for 10 of Chicago's 15 hits, but it was a three-run eighth against reliever's Gerry Staley and Hank Aguirre that won it for the Sox.

Stafford (12-7) dueling Jim Kaat (7-13) with only a 1-0 lead until Mantle walloped his first home run in nine games leading off the seventh inning. Howard hit his 14th home run in the ninth, off reliever Ray Moore.

Gentile had three hits and drove in four runs, snatching the RBI lead from Maris with 124, for the Orioles, who picked up their other home runs from Jackie Brandt, Earl Robinson, Ron Hansen and Jerry Adair in support of Jack Fisher (8-11). Ron Moeller (4-8) was the loser. Ted Kluszewski homered for the Angels.

The Senators gave the Indians an unearned run in the second inning and then were rapped for eight runs in the fourth. Gary Bell (9-14) pitched his first shut-out of the year with a four-hitter. John Gabler (3-7) was the loser.

Winning right-hander Gene Conley (9-11) beat the A's and Jim Archer (8-11) with a tie-breaking, two-run single in the seventh for the Red Sox, who pushed across five more in the ninth.

Bad Boy of Tennis
Persists In Dispute
About Suspension

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Denis Ralston, the Peck's Bad Boy of American tennis continued his suspension by the United States Lawn Tennis Association today as world ranking tennis players gathered for the start of the National Championships.

The Nationals begin at the picturesque West Side Tennis Club Friday. But Ralston, one of the top grass court players in the country, is destined to watch from the stands unless the USLTA gives in to numerous pleas that his suspension be lifted.

Ralston was suspended Tuesday for unbecoming conduct during the American Zone Davis Cup final in Cleveland earlier this month. The 19-year-old Californian from Bakersfield was declared ineligible for the National and his status for the upcoming Davis Cup matches against India also is doubtful.

The latest to ask America's governing tennis body to reconsider were seven of the eight seeded players in the singles competition.

MRS. CORNELIA C. TURNBULL puts a lesson in geometry on video tape at the South Carolina Educational Television Center.

By DICK KLEINER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK—(NEA)—It is currently quite fashionable to blast TV's violence, repetition and corruptive qualities with such phrases as "television is terrible."
We ought to be more explicit and say, "Commercial television is terrible." There are many wonderful things being done through the medium of television; it isn't fair to castigate a magnificent tool because some misuse it.
Consider educational TV. Without fanfare and investigation, the use of television in schools is steadily increasing. Latest figures show there are 48 educational stations operating in 28 states. Their total audience is estimated at more than 70,000,000, including approximately 20,000,000 regular viewers.
Most of these are "open circuit" stations—they can be picked up by any receiver within range of the signal. A few are "closed circuit"—the transmitter and receivers are hooked together so only those on the circuit can get the picture.
Whichever way they operate, the idea is the same—to get varied educational courses into schools and, in some cases, homes. The audience is generally pupils in classrooms but occasionally any interested set-owner. And it watches while the best teachers explain their subjects.

If you must have violence, you can still get it on educational TV. What's more brutal than to watch someone split an infinitive, bisect an angle or render a poem?
The development of video tape has given educational TV its recent impetus. An educational TV station can now amass a library of courses on tape, and telecast them time and again.
As an example, South Carolina's educational TV network is currently building a three-channel, closed circuit network which will reach every high school in the state. They are taping six to 10 courses a year, and plan to keep this pace for the next six years. The network will then have a complete library of at least 36 high school courses.
What are the advantages of telecast courses? There would be none if every school could afford the best teachers giving every possible course. But too many schools are not in that position;

The Ways TV Can Insult You

By DICK KLEINER
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Did you ever stop to think about the ways in which television insults you?
OK, let's think about it. There now is a program called Westinghouse Preview Theater. The name is unimportant; there have been programs like it every summer for years.
Preview Theater is a series of unsold pilot films. They aren't repeats, because you haven't seen them before. These are previously unused half-hour films which cost a lot of money, because a script had to be bought; producer, director, actors hired; sets built and film and camera men utilized.
These pilot films were made to be sold as forerunners of successful series.
The only trouble is: they didn't sell.
In other words, these are failures. What you are seeing is a parade of flops. These are the have-nots of TV — the programs that were by-passed when the networks and the agencies bought those "great" shows — "Happy" or "My Sister Eileen" or "One Happy Family" or "Mr. Garlund."
Those were bad. These are worse.
Can you think of any other art-

News of Interest To Mid-Missourians form where the flops, the failures, the dogs are commercially sponsored?

Take book publishing. Just suppose that a publisher took all his rejected manuscripts and put them out. He might call them "Preview Editions," or some other jazzy title.
Or take music. Even song-writers have their bad days. If they adopted TV's philosophy of making capital out of rejects, they could bundle up their most miserable, unpublished tunes and put them out on one big LP — call it "And Then I Almost Wrote."
How about the Broadway theater? There are plays that are

Tomatoes of the Future Is Theme At Recent Show

The University of Missouri Department of Horticulture and Agriculture Extension Service conducted a Tomato Field Day at the Horticulture Experiment Farm near New Franklin recently with some 125 people attending, including home gardeners, commercial growers, plant growers, seedsmen and county agents.
Between showers, these folks viewed some 100 varieties and hybrids. These tomatoes are a part of a rather significant research program being conducted by the University of Missouri Department of Horticulture under the direction of Dr. V. N. Lambeth.
The purpose of the program is to develop tomato varieties and

Poultrymen Plagued By Old Problem

As poultry operations become larger and more specialized, new problems appear on the scene. One that is beginning to plague some poultrymen is what to do with the manure. This is not a problem for poultrymen with a lot of land because they can always spread manure on fields and grow bumper crops of corn and pasture grasses. But, the real problem is with poultrymen who have small acreages and live near cities.
The first idea that usually pops in a person's mind is "why not dry the manure, put it in pellet or crumble form, and sell it to urban home owners to put on their lawns or gardens?" This idea is good and is being done in some areas — but it has its problems.
One problem is the cost of setting up a drying plant. According to a study made in New York, for example, the investment in buildings and equipment for drying manure runs slightly over $120,000. Cost of drying, pelleting and packaging in 50 pound bags runs around $30 per ton when the plant is operated at maximum capacity. To be competitive with other types of dried manure on the market a product would have to be sold for $35 or less per ton.
For a profitable operation, a plant must be located in an area where a large volume of manure is available. The average plant would require the manure from about 350,000 birds in an area to keep it running 24 hours per day, six days per week. You can see that this requires a highly concentrated poultry production area.
The dried manure has a fertilizer value of 4-3-1, which means it contains four per cent nitrogen, three per cent phosphorus, and one per cent potash. Although an economic value can be assigned to manure as a fertilizer, from the standpoint of marketing there is still a question of how much the consumer will buy and what he is willing to pay for it.
Finally, there is the health and odor problem involved in the drying process. Several plants have been forced to close their doors because of odor coming from plants located near populated centers.

Local Marines End Recruit Training

Completing recruit training, the history and mission of the Aug. 17, at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif., were Marines Pvt. Leon M. Smethers, son of John M. Smethers of Route 2; Pvt. James A. Sickler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Sickler, and Pvt. Lawrence A. Perkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Perkins also of Route 2.

The eleven weeks of training emphasized physical conditioning, the history and mission of the Marine Corps, customs and courtesies, hygiene and sanitation, and basic military subjects.

During the rifle range phase, marine recruits fire the M-1 rifle, the Browning automatic rifle and the .45-caliber pistol.

Upon completion of their final phase of training, new marines report to Camp Pendleton, Calif., for further infantry training.

IT DOESN'T MEAN HORSEPOWER—Its name is the HP 115, but the designation has nothing to do with horsepower. Billed as the slimmest of jet planes, this British Handley Page delta wing job is considered a trail blazer for later 1,400 m.p.h. super passenger planes.

Checkmate's Dr. Hyatt Is Favored Star

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — British novelist Eric Ambler, who thought up the idea of CBS' "Checkmate" series, might be accused of favoritism. Two of his central characters are handsome, strong young men in well-tailored Ivy League suits whose weekly job is to snatch helpless victims from the jaws of carefully plotted death.

But on the third character, Ambler really let himself go. Dr. Carl Hyatt, the professional criminologist of the series, is given all the theatrical white meat. Not only is the character urbane, incredibly knowledgeable, well-traveled and mature, but he is lavishly supplied with props, any of which would steal any scene in which he appears.

The lucky fellow who plays the role is Sebastian Cabot, an adroit London-born actor who stopped shaving in 1954 to play an important part in the movie version of "Kismet."

Cabot's off-TV personality resembles the character he plays. His appreciation of good food has added 45 pounds to his already rounded figure. He's been put on a strict 1,200-calories-a-day diet. He follows it by starting off the day with a banana and a glass of skim milk—and then forgets the whole thing until the next day.

He loves playing learned Dr. Hyatt, but wishes they would make the character a little more human.

"It would be nice if Hyatt could make a mistake every once in a while," Cabot complained. "But every time I've suggested it they say that the public would never accept it. So I'll just go on being infallible."

In England Cabot was famous for his dialects—he can do perfect imitations of German, French and Italian accents. As Hyatt he mutes his British accent to suggest he's a Bostonian.

Although he plays a middle-aged bachelor bon-vivant with an eye for mature widows, Cabot is a happily married man with a pretty blonde wife, Kathleen, and three children ranging in age from 18 to 2.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. spokesman has rejected a claim by a high East German official to a right to clamp down on Western commercial air flights to West Berlin.

Referring to a statement by Otto Winzer, deputy foreign minister of the Communist East German regime, State Department press officer Lincoln White said Wednesday: "We do not recognize the East German deputy foreign minister's comments on the use of air corridors. The Soviets themselves raised this issue with us and that was answered in our note to them of last Saturday."

This country does not recognize the East German regime as a legitimate government.

Sporting Thief

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — The burglar who broke into the Lakeview Park refreshment stand apparently had recreation in mind, police think. He carted off candy, gum, three pairs of sun glasses, sun tan oil, potato chips, toy golf clubs and six pairs of men's swim trunks.

3 Generations Of Family To Enter School

KING, N.C. (AP) — Three generations of the same Stokes County family will enroll Friday in the first grade here.

Numa G. Covington, 74, a tobacco farmer, and his second wife who is 29, will enroll their 6-year-old son, Ronnie.

Merri-Dell Hall, 6, Covington's grandchild, will be in the class. She is the daughter of Mrs. Delbert Hall, Covington's daughter by his first wife. Now deceased.

The third member, Robin Cromer, 6, is a great-grandchild of Covington. Her mother, Mrs. Doyle Cromer, is the daughter of Alma Cornatzer of Mocksville, who also is Covington's daughter by his first wife.

Covington and his second wife also have two other boys, Philip, 3, and Douglas, 2.

Charge Trio In Kidnap Of Older Couple

MONROE, N.C. (AP) — Two Negroes and a white youth were charged Wednesday night with kidnaping in the seizure of an elderly white couple during the height of racial tension here last Sunday.

A Union County grand jury Monday had indicted Robert F. Williams, 36, a Monroe Negro, on the capital crime of kidnaping in the same case.

Authorities said Wednesday night three members of the Monroe Non-Violent Action Committee also have been charged with kidnaping. They were identified as Richard Crowder, 19, Negro, of Monroe, president of the non-violent group; Harold Reep, 18, also a Monroe Negro, and John Cecil Lowry, 20, a white of the Bronx, N.Y.

All three were being held without bond.

State, county and city officers raided Crowder's home Wednesday and reported they found a small arsenal of weapons, including at least one automatic rifle.

Police said one rifle was of Soviet origin with a hammer and sickle emblem on its side.

Williams, who with his wife and two children hasn't been seen since he was indicted, had boasted that he was accumulating weapons in his home to meet violence with violence.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Bruce Stegall of Marshville were taken from their car by 200 armed Negroes, held hostage for 2½ hours and released unharmed. The kidnap charges grew out of this episode.

Financial Circles Watch Rising Gold Price Closely

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The slow but persistent rise in the price of gold is being watched closely in New York financial circles—and doubtless in Washington official circles.

They remember the dollar's troubles last fall when the gold price rose to $40.60 on the London market, compared with the official $35 an ounce here.

Talk of a possible devaluation of the dollar was heard—and later proved groundless. But Washington still is working at seeing that another dollar crisis doesn't arise.

This latest upsurge in the price of gold coincides with a drop in U.S. exports, after their strong advance in the earlier months of 1961 had helped bring the outflow of dollars from this country closer in line with the inflow of dollars, although there is still a deficit.

Attractiveness of gold for investors also is coming at a time when U.S. government spending is rising, bringing with it an increase in the prospective U.S. Treasury deficit.

All of this doesn't threaten the value of the dollar now. But it makes for some nervousness lest it might give the dollar some trouble in the future.

Still unsolved is the long-range problem of balancing our outflow of dollars for imports, foreign aid, travel, and overseas investment with the inflow of dollars from exports, services and earnings on investments.

Two Whiteman Youths Okayed For Wentworth

Two Sedalia area youths are among those accepted for admission to Wentworth Military Academy in Lexington as members of the 1961-62 cadet battle group, Col. Lester B. Wikoff, superintendent, said today.

The youths are: Waldo C. Potter, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. W. F. Potter, 102 Ramey, Whiteman AFB; and Robert C. Cook, son of Col. and Mrs. Harold Cook, 117 Travis Lane, Whiteman AFB.

The youths begin their studies Aug. 31 when Wentworth opens its 82nd academic session.

Wentworth, a Department of the Army honor school, offers a senior ROTC course that prepares youths for commissions in the infantry reserve. Cadets qualifying in military subjects and attending a summer camp are commissioned second lieutenants upon obtaining a baccalaureate degree.

Executive Says Railroad Aid Is Regrettable

CHICAGO (AP)—Ernest S. Marsh, president of the Santa Fe Railroad said a proposal for federal aid to rail passenger service is regrettable but understandable.

Marsh was referring to a proposal made in Washington Wednesday by the Interstate Commerce Commission that federal grants be made to railroads to keep essential passenger trains running.

Marsh, in a prepared statement, said such aid would be of little use to railroads, which derive only about one per cent of their revenues from passenger fares.

"This merely points up the urgent need for Congress to enact a realistic transportation policy," Marsh said.

Marsh said a federal subsidy would be a first step toward nationalization of all transportation.

Anonymous Call Puts Sheriff In a Bad Spot

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—The sheriff's office received a call for help Tuesday evening.

The caller, a man screamed almost incoherently that a man was being stabbed during a poker game.

Officers rushed to the address, barged inside—and found themselves in the midst of a wedding ceremony.

They theorized the anonymous caller must have been a disappointed suitor trying to even the score.

fact
When the beaver population gets too heavy in certain areas, conservationists may stage a "beaver lift." The most workable method is to transport the furry rodents by plane and parachute them to the site of their new home. Released in remote mountain areas, a new colony of beavers is soon building dams to their heart's content.

Scout Meetings Sept. 8-10 At Camp Pa He Tsi

Scout Camp Pa He Tsi in the Lake of the Ozarks State Park will be the site of four simultaneous Scouting meetings the weekend of September 8-10.

Lake of the Ozarks Council President, Charles D. Bailey, Eldon, said that Pa He Tsi will have an Order of the Arrow Conclave beginning Sept. 8, a Council Commissioner's Conference, an Organization and Extension Committee Conference and a Scouters' SHOWANDO Sept. 9 and 10.

Order of the Arrow is a national Scout honor campers group, pledged to special service. Members are elected from topnotch Boy Scouts who have given exemplary devotion to Scouting ideals. Included in the Conclave will be an investiture of 90 boys chosen as new members this year.

Attend Westminster

Westminster College announced today that David Edwards, son of Dr. and Mrs. D. R. Edwards, 1619 Montevue, will be a member of the freshman class this fall.

New students will arrive on Westminster's campus Saturday, Sept. 9, and will be housed in the men's residence halls of Winston Churchill Quadrangle. They will attend a reception that evening for new students, parents, faculty, and administrative staff.

The Scouters' SHOWANDO is an intensive training program in Scouting skills for adult Scouters, who will pass on the skills to boys. Scouters will be shown teaching techniques of various Scouting skills by experts, then given a chance to do them themselves.

Scouters from the 11-county Lake of the Ozarks Council, which includes the following counties, will be participating in the three-day events: Saline, Pettis, Benton, Miller, Camden, Morgan, Moniteau, Cole, Osage, Maries and Gasconade counties. Also Windsor, Otter and Summit Townships.

Wheat Reminder Issued Benton County Farmers

Benton County ASC officials today issued a reminder to county farmers regarding their 1962 wheat crop.

"If you have not planted wheat in 1959, 1960 or 1961 and do not have an allotment on your farm, you cannot harvest wheat for grain in 1962 unless you have a feed wheat agreement approved for your farm," the ASC committee stated.

The agreement is for feed only, it was pointed out.

Penalty on excess wheat for 1962 will be higher than in the previous years. Based on the July,

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT—Sedalia, Mo., Thurs., Aug. 31, '61

1961, parity price of $2.37 a bushel, the Benton County committee urges those persons to check with the ASC office and learn their exact standing in regard to the wheat program.

Leaving Old Home Sparks Warm Sentiment In Woman

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—They were two women alone in a big old home that held long memories for both.

As they reached the front door, the daughter, a stout comfortable woman so deep in middle age her face bore no resentment of it, turned to the other.

"I know it's hard for you to leave, Mama," she said. "But Jim and I just couldn't stand the thought of you living any longer all by yourself in this old house."

"We'd never be able to forgive ourselves if anything happened to you."

"You'll be happier with us. Truly you will. Jim loves you as much as he did his own mother."

The white-haired old lady smiled. She reached out a frail, blue-veined hand and patted her daughter comfortingly.

"I realize it's for the best, Evelyn," said. "Why don't you go on out and join Jim in the car? I'd like to take one more last look around just to be sure everything is right."

"That is such a nice young couple that's moving in. I wouldn't want them to find anything not in place."

Her daughter sighed and said: "All right, Mama. I understand. But don't be long. We have a long way to drive."

After she had left, the old lady turned to say goodby alone and in her own way to the home she had entered as a bride nearly 60 years before.

A hint of dusk darkened the soft summer air outdoors. But the old lady made no move to switch on the lights. The feeling of gathering twilight suited her mood.

The old lady wanted to go one by one through every room, but she felt it would be unfair to keep her daughter and son-in-law waiting. But there were three rooms she had to say farewell to.

She paused briefly in the huge, high-ceilinged living room where the family had been warmed by hundreds of long winter evening fires.

Then she went out to the kitchen, where she had as a bride learned to cook on a wood-burning stove, and later bathed the children in bathtubs on the floor.

Still dry-eyed, she rested a moment with one hand on the worn walnut staircase before mounting to her bedroom. She stood silently by a great brightly gleaming old brass bedstead, the center of her life.

Here all her six children had been delivered. Here her first-born son, his eyes wide in wonder, had been strangled by diphtheria. Here she had brought her husband his last glass of water and he had died, still holding her hand.

The remembering tears came then into the old lady's eyes. She bent and patted pillows. Then she suddenly knelt and kissed the bedspread.

"Goodby," she whispered.

Outside Jim honked the car horn—not too impatiently.

"You know we were lucky to find a young couple willing to rent a museum like your old home," he told his wife. "But they're fond of antiques and they liked all the pieces except one."

"What was that?" asked Evelyn.

"That old brass bedstead," said Jim.

"What do they plan to do with it?"

"Junk it," said Jim.

The old lady came out the door, carefully locked it, then walked down the front steps like a soldier smiling at a firing squad.

"I'm ready at last," she said. "Let's be on our way. Maybe we can still get home before it's too dark."

India Unemployment

NEW DELHI (AP)—India will have between 7,500,000 and eight million persons unemployed at the end of her second five year plan next April.

The government estimate compares with 5,300,000 unemployed at the beginning of the plan. The figures, based on a population now estimated at 420 million, do not include extensive underemployment.

Efforts are being made to find work in the third five year plan, from 1961 to 1966, for about 14,500,000 new job-seekers.

OVERSIGHT—Thomas Francis Kelly, Sr., operator of a Chicago racing wire and identified as a former underling of the Capone syndicate, is shown as he refused to tell the Senate investigating subcommittee about his alleged role in a nationwide confederation of horse race flash services. He invoked the 5th amendment approximately 20 times and did not budge when ordered and directed by committee members to answer the questions. (NEA Telephoto)

Tomatoes

Cold Pack—Wash. Dip in boiling water for about one half to one minute and immediately place in cold water. Peel, remove the core and any green portions or defects. Leave whole or cut into halves or quarters, according to the way they are to be used.

Hot Pack—Prepare tomatoes as for cold pack. Heat to boiling in a shallow flat bottomed pan with well-fitting lid. Stir just enough to prevent sticking.

Remove air bubbles. Wipe top of the jar. Adjust lid. Process pints 35 minutes, quarts 45 minutes in a boiling water bath. Complete seal if lids are not self-sealing. Hot Pack—Prepare tomatoes as for cold pack. Heat to boiling in a shallow flat bottomed pan with well-fitting lid. Stir just enough to prevent sticking.

Pack jar to within one inch of top. Add one teaspoon salt to each quart. Remove air bubbles. Wipe top of jar. Adjust lid. Process pint and quart jars 10 minutes in boiling water bath. Complete seal if lids are not self-sealing.

Tomato Juice

Use only tomatoes of good quality. Poor tomatoes make poor juice. Wash, core and cut tomatoes into pieces.

Simmer until soft. Put through a food mill, ricer, fine strainer or sieve. Reheat to boiling and pour into hot jars filling to 1/4 inch of top. Add 1 teaspoon of salt to each quart of juice. Wipe tops of jars. Adjust lids.

Process both pints and quarts 10 minutes in a boiling water bath. Complete seal if lids are not the self-sealing type.

Baking Yeast Breads

Bread is an important part of your diet. It gives you calories for energy and heat and protein for growth. Enriched or whole grain breads also contribute iron and B vitamins, such as thiamine, riboflavin and niacin. Bread is an inexpensive way of getting part of these essential nutrients. It is recommended for good eating that we have four servings of enriched or whole grain bread or cereal each day. Bread has a mild flavor which blends well with almost any food. People rarely tire of it. Breads have many flavors.

Ingredients—Good quality raw products are essential for any product. For yeast breads, you'll need:

Flour—Hardwheat flour gives a larger dome shaped loaf than does soft wheat because it has more gluten and a better quality of gluten. Gluten gives the dough elasticity, making it possible for the dough to stretch and hold the gas that is formed by the yeast.

Yeast is a living plant so small you cannot see it without a microscope. It feeds on sugar and forms carbon dioxide gas which causes the dough to rise. Yeast is killed by too warm a temperature, and its action is stopped by too cool a temperature. One package of dry yeast is exactly equivalent to one cake of compressed yeast. There's only one difference. When you use compressed yeast, soften it in lukewarm water and dry yeast may be softened in slightly warmer water (106 degrees) instead of 85 degrees.

For liquid—you can use milk.

water or potato water. Breads made with milk are more nutritious, keep better and have a more velvety grain and creamy white crumb. Breads made with water have a wheaty flavor and are crusty. It is important to scald the milk to destroy the enzyme and bacteria in pasteurized milk which would interfere with the volume of the dough.

Salt helps control the action of the yeast. If salt is not added the dough rises too rapidly and the bread may be too coarse. An excess of salt makes compact firm bread. Salt also adds to the flavor as well as strengthening the gluten.

Sugar provides quick food for the yeast plants. It gives a desirable flavor and a golden crust. Too much sugar may cause the bread to burn or to be heavy and compact.

Fat improves the flavor and makes the bread tender. It gives it a crisp golden brown crust. It also improves the keeping quality of the bread.

Eggs are not usually added to plain bread, but we use them in rolls or fancy breads. They give an extra rich flavor and a creamy color to the crust. They also improve the keeping quality and texture of the finished product.

Making yeast bread is an art as well as a skill. It is important to remember when you are making bread that the amount of flour you will need will vary and will depend primarily on the kind and quality of the flour you use. Resting or letting the dough stand for ten minutes gives the flour a chance to absorb liquid and tighten the dough making it easier to handle. The dough should be kneaded until it feels springy and elastic. This kneading develops the gluten, and part of the art of bread making is to know just how much kneading to do. It varies with your skill and the flour. The rising should take place in a warm place (80-86 degrees). Remember to keep the pan of dough in a warm, not hot or cool place. If dough is allowed to rise in too warm a place, it may have an undesirable flavor and odor.

Cool the baked loaves or rolls on a rack so that all sides are exposed to air and stay dry. For a tender, shiny crust grease bread with fat.

Bread stored in a refrigerator does not mold but becomes stale more quickly than at room temperature.

perature. For long storage, place bread or rolls in the freezer. It will keep there for several months.

The no-knead method of mixing gives rolls that are more open in texture and are best eaten soon after baking.

Usually practice will improve the quality of breads and rolls you make. Your bread and rolls should be good looking, evenly shaped, and golden brown—not too light or too dark—the crumb is creamy white with little holes all about the same size. It should have spring, be light in weight in comparison to size, feel soft and velvety and should tear or break easily. Good bread tastes nutty like wheat and has no off-odor or flavor.

Bread and Rolls In The Freezer—Freezing is a practical method to keep bread from becoming stale. Baked rolls and bread are some of the most successful foods to freeze. Dough for rolls may also be frozen for short periods of time, but freezing dough for bread does not seem to be as satisfactory. There is the tantalizing odor of baking rolls at serving time but the rolls will be smaller and the crusts dry and tough. Rolls often flatten out rather than actually rising. Half-baked rolls freeze well.

To freeze, prepare and bake the fresh rolls and bread as usual. As soon as cool, wrap well, seal, and freeze immediately.

Baked bread thaws quickly because it contains little moisture. Thaw it in its original package at room temperature. If the frozen bread is thawed unwrapped, moisture will form on the crust and it will be wet and lost all crispness.

To thaw rolls, remove from the freezer and heat in their wrappings in a 400 degree Fahrenheit oven for about five to 10 minutes, depending upon the size of the rolls. Too long heating will dry them out. Also rolls may be thawed at room temperature in their wrappings and then reheated in a bun warmer or hot oven to freshen them.

Quick breads may be frozen before or after they are baked but it is usually preferable to freeze after baking. The dough has a short storage life and the baked loaf may be smaller in volume and less tender.

Loaf breads are hard to slice when hot and they freeze well after baking. Waffles may be baked, frozen and reheated in a toaster for serving. Freezing muffin batters and baking powder biscuits does not save the homemaker much time.

Doughnuts are satisfactory if frozen after they are fried. Use your favorite recipe. Cool them well and stack one on another in an airtight container or wrap them separately in metal foil. Reheat them in a 400 degree Fahrenheit oven, but do not let them dry out.

Loses More Than Dignity

PRESCOTT, Ariz. (AP) — Gov. Paul Fannin lost dignity and part of his pants during the Prescott rodeo.

The governor rode in the rodeo parade, then dismounted and started on foot for the grandstands.

He crawled under a fence and heard a rip in the rear. The seat of his pants was missing. He attempted to hide his mishap by sliding along the fence. Then he met a lady who wanted to talk as he walked along.

"I just backed up against a car," the governor says, "and had to tell her what the situation was." Finally, a friend arrived with a pair of pants and guided the governor to a spot where he could change.

Sen. Keating Takes Blast At Dairymen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Agriculture Department efforts to get a national milk sanitation code from Congress ran into outspoken opposition Wednesday by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y. He called the proposal an attempt by Midwest dairymen to break into richer eastern markets.

"I do not begrudge them this," Keating told the House Commerce Committee, "but I question their motives in putting this legislation forward as a measure to protect health, safety and nutrition."

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman defended the proposal. He said it would eliminate many "overlapping and duplicating inspections and differing standards of various states and localities."

The legislation is designed to insure the free movement of milk from state to state provided it meets standards of the U.S. Public Health Service.

Keating called the proposal a "brazen attempt to sell eastern agriculture down the river." He also said it could result in overproduction and milk subsidies.

"We have so many bad farm policies that I shudder to think we could take another step as foolish and unwise as enacting the national milk sanitation act," the New Yorker said.

Freeman said the multiplicity of local sanitation and inspection requirements penalizes both farmers and consumers.

The secretary said opposition to the legislation was partly due to the fears of some farmers that it might lead to lower milk prices.

"We do not believe these fears are justified," Freeman said.

He also said it is untrue that some states have higher sanitary standards than the Public Health Service.

Committee Puts OK on Number For Taxpayers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury's plan to assign permanent numbers to income taxpayers to speed up handling of the returns—and help catch dodgers—got the approval of the House Ways and Means Committee on Wednesday.

The Committee sent to the House a bill under which a taxpayer's Social Security number will serve as his permanent tax account number. Taxpayers who have no Social Security accounts will be assigned numbers if they later come under that system.

Together For Round of Golf

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower returned to his old home course at Burning Tree in suburban Maryland Wednesday for a round of golf with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The two met at Eisenhower's farm home on the edge of Gettysburg, Pa., two days ago and arranged the golf date then.

The foursome included William P. Rogers, attorney general under Eisenhower and close friend of Nixon, and Col. John Eisenhower, son of the former President.

Mansfield Outlines Senate Work Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana outlined a Senate program Wednesday that he said would make it possible with full cooperation from all senators, for Congress to adjourn by Sept. 14 or 15.

But, he told his colleagues, "My guess is we'll finish closer to the first of October."

Deputy Must Serve Himself a Warrant

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—Local officials are conducting a drive to collect delinquent property taxes and have filed 4,000 suits.

To help serve warrants, Constable John R. Garner deputized William J. Gordy.

Wednesday the county clerk's office listed Gordy as one of the delinquents.

Strike Pickets March Around Serum Company

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—About 200 employees at the Anchor Serum Co. went on strike Wednesday night and pickets marched at the five Anchor plants in St. Joseph.

The workers are members of a newly organized local of the United Packinghouse Allied Workers Union. Union and management representatives have been negotiating on a work contract since July 10. A federal mediator met with them the past week.

William Strope, president of the local, said the contract talks were scheduled to continue today.

California Rated Tops For Salads

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Salad Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—These are salad days, at which time it's good to be in California.

This is not mere local pride, but honest realism. I hate to be a continent-dropper (that's a lie; I love it). But having been to the Orient and Europe this year, I can report I still haven't found salads to match California's.

Nor are there comparable salads in eastern America. New York is a limp-lettuce town. I'll duel any New Yorker who challenges that. Watercress at five paces.

The difference is not merely in the fresh-picked lettuce you get in California. The basic element of a salad is the care with which it is made. There is nothing more repugnant to the sensitive saladman than a handful of warm lettuce topped with a mucilage of thousand island.

Lettuce must be cold and crisp. My cook, who makes such a good salad that I married her, has an unpatented method for assuring this. She tears and sprinkles the lettuce an hour early, then chills it in the refrigerator with a paper towel lining the bowl to absorb the water. The dressing, of course is added just before eating.

In California you can get salads in abundant variety. Even a fried salad. This sounds like a misnomer but it's a taco—shredded lettuce, cheese, tomato sauce and Mexican sausage wrapped in a deep-fried tortilla.

Hollywood's restaurants offer a wide assortment of salads. You won't find a better chef's salad than the one at Musso-Frank's, oldest eatery on the boulevard (est. 1919) and the best.

Musso's combines romaine, plain lettuce and watercress with thin slices of chicken, ham and tongue, chopped egg, shoestring beets and finely chopped parsley. It's served with a special pink French dressing, with or without garlic according to your courage.

The Brown Derby's special is the Cobb salad, named after bossman Bob Cobb. It's great for people too tired to chew, because it's all chopped fine as confetti.

Here are the items that go on the chopping block: ½ head lettuce, ½ bunch watercress, small bunch chervil, ½ head romaine, two medium peeled tomatoes, two boiled breasts of chicken, six strips crisp bacon, an avocado, three hard-boiled eggs, two tablespoons chiev, ½ cup granted roquefort cheese.

Put it all together with an old-fashioned French dressing and you've got a fabulous salad for four.

This column has made me so hungry, I'm going out for a salad. Back in two weeks.

Turkey, Ham Offered For Big Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two long-time holiday favorites, turkey and smoked ham, are offered by many supermarkets this week, enabling housewives to take some of the labor out of Labor Day weekend.

Both readily adapt to multi-meal treatment—for the family one day and guests the next, for family or guests both days or whatever the case may be.

Pre-cooked chicken, an item which removes practically all of the labor out of cooking, is featured in some Eastern chains.

Some stores, obviously with picnics in mind, offer such items as luncheon meat, frankfurters and sliced boiled ham at reduced prices. Offerings of rib roast, steak and lamb are pretty well scattered.

Best buys among vegetables to go with whatever meat is selected run to such items as carrots, corn, cucumbers, eggplant, endive, escarole. Eastern yellow onions, peppers, potatoes, tomatoes and watercress. Celery and potatoes are outstanding buys, too, in areas where they're available from nearby fields.

Others in the good buy class include beans, broccoli, cauliflower, green onions, radishes, lettuce, okra, parsnips, spinach, squash and sweet potatoes.

Outstanding fruit buys are cantaloupes, limes, Thompson seedless grapes, lemons, watermelons and honeydew melons.

You can get good buys, too, among apples, blueberries, peaches, pears, plums, prunes, nectarines and California oranges.

Tough Policy Outlined On Youth Gangs

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A crack-down on youth gang fights has been outlined by Prosecutor William A. Collet.

"We will do all we can to take the fun out of gang fights," he said Wednesday. Action followed his words.

A charge of assault with intent to kill was filed against William Lofton, 17, in connection with a fight between two gangs of Negro youths.

Lofton is accused of shooting John Franklin Woods, 19, in the leg Monday night.

Woods said he didn't want to prosecute Lofton, but Collet's office obtained a subpoena requiring Woods to appear as a witness at Lofton's preliminary hearing Sept. 12.

Police have said they were hampered by refusal of injured gang members to testify against assailants.

Collet said every means would be sought "to compel the victim to come into court and tell his story."

"We will serve on the victim, or victims, grand jury subpoenas and will place them under bond as material witnesses."

The crackdown arose from the slaying of a police officer, Cpl. Arthur Marti, 26, Monday night as he was searching four youths on a street two hours after Woods was shot.

Ronald Eugene Johnson, 15, implicated by Hunter's two companions, was surrendered to police Wednesday night by his mother, Mrs. Mary Johnson. She said her son hadn't been home since Marti was shot.

The other youths, Jimmy Lee Marshall, 14, and James Wesley Anderson, 16, are being held at the Jackson County Parental School.
